Princeton Inventor Sees Early Transmission of Mail by Satellite

It won't be too long before we'll be slipping our letters into a "radio mailbox" at the corner or at the office, and the letter will be received within minutes on the west coast or abroad.

Personal mail will go by satellite or by community antenna television (CATV) coaxial network. Its video message is scrambled for privacy. Instead of a slot in the door to receive the mail, there'll be a small antenna on the roof and a receiving box indoors to unscramble the message and print it within 10 seconds.

The cost—about the same as today's airmail.

"It will happen in my lifetime," according to Donald S. Bond of 456 Snowden Lane, a senior scientist at RCA Astro who now holds two patents on his "radio mail" invention.

"So much is now available—the coaxial cables, the satellite developments. The probable start will be for the large companies, who can afford it. Then it's just a matter of several years until the system can come into being."

Mr. Bond received his first patent on his imaginative mail system on October 9, 1970, covering the sending and receiving of first class mail. Last July 18, the second patent came through, for third class mail.

The third class system adds coded address lists in a computer bank lodged at the community's third class mail station, or at the offices of an advertiser. All the advertiser needs is a single copy of his communication and the particular code he selects to trigger his mailing.

Mr. Bond calls his system Ultrafax Electromail. Interviewed at his home this week, he cited its advantages of high speed delivery of mail—cross country or trans-ocean—and tremendous reduction in the mail tonnage carried by rail, plane and ship. "It's an outgrowth of the present postal problems," he comments. "There are now about 80 billion to 100 billion letters handled yearly."

The Bell System handles the same number in phone calls a year he adds. The telephone concept, first demonstrated at the Philadelphia Centennial, began three years later in 1879, as a 29-subscriber telephone hook-up in New Haven. "The radio facsimile postal system will grow like the telephone grew from those 29 original subscribers—but at a much greater pace."

Recognizing that the Postal Service has a very large labor body, Mr. Bond comments, "When the telephone company began to use automatic equipment, there was a cry that all the operators would be out of work, but Bell has employed more girls than ever before. The system keeps growing. So, while the labor connected with your mail goes down, there will be no technological unemployment if the parallel cases are valid."

In 1947, he and others on the RCA radio-mail project ran quite a few tests using the NBC television station on the Empire State Building. A year later the project group gave a demonstration of the use of microwaves for facsimile transmission at the Library of Congress in Washington. It was the 100th anniversary of the first demonstration of Morse's electric telegraph.

We sent the entire text of "Gone With The Wind" in a little over two minutes," Mr. Bond recalls. "We transmitted 30 pages a second. There was no typos or errors—just each page as it was. The demonstration included a page from the Gutenberg Bible and pages from the Japanese surrender document. The Library of Congress was interested in this as a potent aid way of moving books."

RCA chairman General David Sarnoff was the principal speaker at the 1947 demonstration. He commented that there was one thing wrong with it—it was 20 years ahead of its time.

"Events since—the earth satellites, the cable TV systems—these are the instruments that make it possible to transmit the mail directly to homes and offices in the near future," Mr. Bond says.

How exactly does it work? Mr. Bond, a soft-spoken individual,

Five Years Later: Community Housing Has 35 Acres for 240 Units

The continuing story of Princeton Community Housing, Inc., which over the years has borne a strong resemblance to "The Perils of Pauline," moved closer this week to "All's Well That Ends Well."

In ceremonies Tuesday afternoon in Trenton, PCH finally received $159,045 from the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency to buy the 35 landlocked acres off Terhune Road where PCH will build 240 units of middle and low-income housing.

In the true tradition of melodrama, the signing occurred in the nick of time: option to buy the land was due to expire Monday. The owner of the major portion, William H. Hahn of Pennsylvania, a patient soul who has suffered state red-tape along with PCH finally said he couldn't renew the option again.

He originally came to an agreement with PCH in 1969 and gave the non-profit organization an option to buy. That option was extended, one year at a time, until this July 8, when Mr. Hahn agreed to a final three-month extension.

All Present. At Tuesday's "closing," PCH was represented by its president, Theodore Vial; vice-president, Carl Pope; secretary, Diane Graves; treasurer, Lankford Bolling; and counsel, Henry Broad.

Also attending were Law rence Kramer, New Jersey Commissioner for Community Affairs; John Renna, director of the Housing Finance Agency; Richard Vail, deputy attorney general for New Jersey; Mayor John D. Wallace of Princeton Township and Mr. and Mrs. Hahn.

At midnight Tuesday, after the Princeton Regional Planning Board unanimously gave its approval to the final subdivision plan, the documents were signed in Borough Hall by Mrs. and Mrs. Hahn and PCH officers.

"We've waited a long, long time for this," observed Planning Board member Robert van de Velde as he moved approval of the subdivision, and everyone on the Planning Board joined to second Mr. van de Velde's motion.

Dollar Breakdown. PCH actually owes $157,000 for the land. However, a bank loan to cover the last option payment plus the cost of title search added another $2,045 to the land price. PCH has been paying $500 a month for the past three years, using money from original and supplementary state grants. Of this, $12,000 has been credited toward the purchase price, but the last $4,500 was not credited toward purchase and was, in essence, payment to Mr. Hahn for his willingness to extend the options.

The state and the contractor

Louis C. Bowers and Sons, still haven't hammered out cost agreements. Final approval of the schematic drawings, which include cost estimates, is still to come.

Old Deed a Factor. The PCH melodrama includes not only a last-minute rescue, but even a musty, century-old deed which might have changed the plot entirely.

About five acres of land appear both in Mr. Hahn's deed and in the deed of the M.T. Lucas Company owned by Princeton real estate agent Charles Draine. The original deed dates back to the mid-19th century according to Mr. Broad.

Architects for PCH drew their plans without the controversial five acres, but PCH wanted the land because it would mean that an inner road in the project could be straightened out.

Under an exchange agreement worked out by all parties, Mr. Draine is giving PCH .126 of an acre so the road can be laid out straight, and PCH is giving Mr. Draine a quitclaim deed for the rest.

Princeton Community Housing, Inc. was formed almost five years ago—in November, 1967—to provide moderately priced housing in Princeton. Its members are various educational institutions and churches.

Proposed 44-House Development Holly Contested

A plan to cluster 44 houses on 24 acres of wooded, rocky land on Cherry Hill and Stuart Roads was set aside for later discussion by the Princeton Regional Planning Board Tuesday night after vigorous and lengthy objections from neighbors.

The plan was presented by a representative of Leon M. Robinson, trustee in bankruptcy for Timothy J. Sheehan, former owner of the property. Three years ago, Mr. Sheehan had presented essentially the same plan. At the time, it was the first cluster development presented under the Township's new cluster ordinance.

Some changes have been made. The proposed extension of Bayard Lane has been shifted to retain more open space, and the individual lots are now bigger—about one acre.

The plan is "an atrocious assault" on the character of the woods, charged Robert Gorman, of Stuart Road. Pointing to the curving row of houses in the center of the rocky woods, he said scornfully, "It's another Kendall Park."

The development will consist of large houses on narrow lots, he told the board, each one causing a gash in an existing woodland of tall, mature trees. He also charged that the plan violates Township zoning regulations because it constitutes an "abrupt change" in lot sizes from surrounding properties, denies some lots "reasonable access" to the open part of the development and does not, so far, spell out how and by whom the open land will be owned.

He urged the Planning

Board to withhold a decision until completion of the multi-family housing policy in 1973. Under questioning from the board, he said he would prefer higher density and more open space in the 24 acres, and suggested that the land had possibilities as a site for multi-family units.

Mr. Gorman and subsequent speakers declared themselves in favor of cluster development as a concept, but opposed to the way clustering had been worked out in the present plan.

Other speakers, referring to the plan's conception in 1969, told the board that traffic on Stuart Road had increased sharply since that time. They questioned the wisdom of a single access road into the cluster, expressed alarm about the safety of intersections, questioned the adequacy of the sewer pipeline and suggested a plan using "knobs" of houses, rather than the single 44-lot cluster.

Mr. Gorman, reminding the board of other undeveloped properties on the periphery of this one, suggested a "mini Master Plan" for the Stuart Hill area.

Apartment Policy. Earlier, the board's in-process multi-family housing study caused a sharp exchange between Frank Reiche, attorney for a developer waiting in the wings, and members of the board, particularly Golda Gottlieb, chairman of the housing subcommittee.

The board had approved appointment of Richard May of Planners, Inc., to work on the housing proposals and Master Plan revision. Board chairman Hans K. Sander said Mr. May's contract, providing $39, 800 for 18 months of work, would expire December 31, 1973.

"The Township desperately needs multi-family guidelines now," Mr. Reiche said, "and I don't think the Planning Board has a sufficient sense of urgency. It's a crime and a shame to take so long."

"We know the urgency," Mrs. Gottlieb retorted. "We have as light a timetable as Mr. May can handle." He is known for delivering right on the deadline. Yes, it would be simple to open the town to morrow to housing, but it would mean the rape of the land and negligence of our social responsibilities.

She chided Mr. Reiche for "throwing in my fare" arguments which she said he had discussed privately with her and presumably under stool.

To Mr. Reiche's warning that New Jersey's courts have begun to act on multi-family zoning, Mr. Sander replied that Princeton "is not vulnerable to accusations of exclusionary zoning," and he pointed to the 550 units of moderate-income housing set forth in the Master Plan.

"We won't be stampeded into a housing decision," he declared, "and use, circulation, the business district—all interlock with housing. These are regional problems, and they outweigh any private interests."

For Nursery School. In other action during a long evening, the board amended the Master Plan to withdraw 12

PRINCESS TOWN COLONIAL

Coming into Prince town there's a meandering brook that flows into Lake Carnegie near the dock and the railroad tracks. This lovely cedar clapboard colonial is just a short distance up the brook on a splendidly large wooded lot. From its slate foyer to its rustic beamed family room, our home offers the best of modern colonial living, the beauty of early American 12 over 12 windows downstairs is matched by the elegance of picture windows in most of the upstairs bedrooms. A screened-in porch off the family room, a summer eat-in deck off the kitchen, and a laundry area on the ground floor are just a few of the extra special features that she will notice. ## "Radio Mail" Coming pass it into laymen's language. "Visualize this. You might go to the closest mail box in your office, or in the lobby of your apartment building, or on the nearest corner. You insert your open letter, page by page. The address is at the top. The letter is electronically scanned, converted into image signals, and sent to the local central office. You retrieve your letter from another slot. You pay postage by inserting your credit card.

"For privacy, the electrical signals are scrambled during the entire transmission by satellite or coaxial cable, until they reach the antenna on the recipient's roof. Inside, there's a black box that looks something like a television set without a tube. It receives the video letter, making a facsimile copy in about 10 seconds."

Mr. Bond continues: "As business office can transmit a letter directly by coaxial cable to the community central office. Central relays via satellite if the distance is long, if it is comparatively short, coaxial cable is used or microwave relay—like today's television programs.

"Third class mail is a variation of this. It's economical. The advertiser activates a whole set of coded names and addresses from the computer bank. His message can be sent to thousands in this way."

Varied Choice Possible. The sender, he explains, might be advertising a sale to his charge customers, or he may be mailing to individuals having a certain level of income, or to all the Pontiac dealers, or it could be a political mailing.

There are office facsimile machines in use today, about 15,000 of them. Most are leased and used for message and picture exchange between corporation plants. An 8 1/2 by 11 page can be transmitted in three minutes. This is a beginning that can be vastly improved. The patents I hold will soon be obsolete. Just like the crank on the wall telephones that you used to turn to arrange 'Central.'"

Mr. Bond notes that the United States will not be the first to have this. "Russia has had its Molniya (lightning) system for several years. Next March, Telusat Canada will begin broadcasting by satellite television, telephone calls, telegrams data from one computer to another. ANIK, an Eskimo word that means, I believe, 'brother,' will bring television and telephone to the far north. The third nation will be the United States. Western Union is almost sure to be the first. July 1974 is the plan. So there's soon the likelihood that a letter to anywhere in this country can be received within a half hour at the busiest time of day."

It's S.P. Mr. Bond received BS and MS degrees in physics from the University of Chicago in 1929 and 1931, respectively. He is now staff scientist in the long range Planning Group at RCA Astro, and holder of about 50 patents.

With RCA since 1935, he was division engineer in charge of communication systems engineering at Camden from 1942 to 1946, when he came to Princeton. At RCA Laboratories, he was a senior member of the technical staff through 1958, in charge of research in navigation systems, high-resolution radar, scanning antennas, microwave-relay communication, microwave absorption in gases, color television techniques, high speed facsimile communications and weapons systems studies.

He has served as a scientific adviser to the Defense Department in the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group. From 1959 to 1966, he conducted a number of projects including a pioneer study of direct television broadcasting to home receivers from synchronous earth satellites.

At the Astro Electronics Division, Mr. Bond directed the voice broadcast mission study for NASA in 1966-67, and the following year was responsible for systems studies on the RCA Homefax system at the David Sarnoff Research Center. Beginning in 1969, he has carried out corporate-wide planning studies of the satellite telecommunications business. The analyses consider the future opportunities of communication companies, broadcast networks and manufacturers of products.

How did he conceive of radio mail? "Well, there's a tremendous need that exists today. Postal service is abominably poor. I thought it through on paper. There are some of us who visualize things that will change our daily living—and this is one of them."

ABOUT A MILLION LETTERS a week pass through the Princeton Post Office, according to Superintendent George Geary, who says "We need all the help we can get." Above is Dave Britton on his rounds.

Who are You?

Do you agree (with us!) that Princeton is fortunate to have such a sincere and dedicated group of citizens working for us as our elected officials?

Do you agree that our Committee is on the right track when we suggest to Princeton government that the proved way to slow down rising taxes is to get more office and research rateables built on the 300 acres we have zoned for that use, and that we need several hundred units of high-quality condominium town houses for adults that will bring in more tax revenue without adding more children to education?

We want to help the good men we have elected. If you agree, put your name and address on this ad and mail it back to me.

Township Planning Board's Final Act Aids Housing Shortage

The Township's revised zoning ordinance passed Committee resoundingly and unanimously Monday night, opening the way for householders to take in roomers, convert part of the house into a little flat, make an attic guest room without the expense of seeking a zoning variance.

Passage of the ordinance will allow the Township's own Planning Board to fade gracefully from the scene. A few suggested changes will be discussed next Monday at the board's 8 p.m. public meeting in Township Hall, but after these have been incorporated into a package amendment and adopted by Committee, the Board will pass into history. The date of its demise is to be November 30, when the revisions take effect.

The Township Planning Board has been in existence on a year-by-year basis solely for the purpose of drafting this revised zoning ordinance. The board is a separate body from the Borough Township Regional Planning Board although many members serve on both.

The public hearings on the zoning revisions, one in August and one in September. Suggestions made by citizens at these meetings — about two dozen proposals, according to Mayor John D. Wallace — were examined by board members and many will be incorporated into the amendment package.

At Monday night's formal public hearing on the ordinance, Charles Sperling, 311 Witherspoon, said property owners on the west side of Witherspoon Street object to being changed from a Business zone to Residential. Property values would decline sharply if the change were made, he predicted.

The planners had already agreed to put back into the B1 zone the building on the west side of Witherspoon owned by the Princeton Packet, plus the east side strip of Witherspoon between Guyot and Henry.

Nobody except the Packet seemed to care about the change from B-1 to residential, observed board chairman Hans K. Sander, and Committeeman James A. Floyd pointed out that nobody on the west side had signed the east side's petition asking to remain in B-1.

Nevertheless, persisted Mr.

Open Space. In other business, Committee passed the $12,000 supplemental appropriation for acquisition of the Houghlan-Castore canal-side tract for Open Space. The appraised purchase price of $140,000 for the six acres will be refunded to the Township by Federal and New Jersey State governments, each one paying half. Committee, in 1970, had appropriated $130,000 for the purchase. The additional sum makes up the difference between old and new appraisals, and adds $2,000 for legal and administrative costs.

In personal matters, Committee accepted "with deep regret" the resignation of Mrs. J.V.A. Fine from the Conservation Commission, (soon to be re-christened the "Environmental" Commission). She was a charter member of the original Township Open Space Committee.

Miss Kathy Johnson, 420 Prospect, was named to the Conservation group. Mrs. Fine's resignation now leaves one vacancy on the Commission.

Also, Committee welcomed Ronn W. Kaminski as a full-fledged member of the Township police force. He joined the force last October and has completed his required probationary year.

MOVE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Public Meeting Planned. The school board's proposal to convert John Witherspoon School into the district's middle school, change Community Park School into an elementary school and use Valley Road for whatever purposes seem most economic, will be up for public discussion next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of John Witherspoon.

The proposal was first made two years ago by the Citizens Advisory Committee for Long Range Planning, and was included as a formal recommendation in the final report of that committee in May 1971.

John Witherspoon was built in 1966 by the old Borough Board of Education before Borough and Township school systems were merged. It was designed for students up

Borough Police Chief Plans Monthly "Open House"

Since becoming Borough police chief in August, Michael Carnevale has made improved relations and communication between the police and members of the community one of his goals.

He took another step in that direction this week when he announced that Wednesday, October 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. and on the fourth Wednesday of every month thereafter, he will be available to anyone who wants to talk to him in the Conference Room at Borough Hall.

"I will meet with anyone who would like to discuss any police problem or any problem relating to public safety and traffic," he said. "I think," he continued, "there are an awful lot of frustrated people who have legitimate complaints."

A lot of people, he said, who work during the day find it difficult to come to police headquarters. "For that reason I am making myself available."

"It's just another way of getting across to the people that we are interested, and that we will try our level best to solve their problems." Chief Carnevale added that if he or his department find they cannot help, they will refer the problem to the proper authority.

through the eighth grade. It's much more suitable for middle school-age children than Community Park School, said Superintendent Philip E. McPherson this week. "And Community Park was originally an elementary school. Presently John Witherspoon programs will fill in there very well."

He noted the special features of Community Park, such as clusters of rooms, which he believes will be flexible enough to accommodate both present and future elementary programs.

Approval Voted. "I'm very pleased with the idea," said Eugene Biringer, principal of John Witherspoon, who would presumably be moving back to where he first began in the Princeton system. He came to Princeton in 1963 to be principal at Community Park. The school had been built the year before.

Both Mr. Biringer and Dr. McPherson pointed out that John Witherspoon is overendowed for an elementary school. The auditorium, for example, with its size, its room

Township Planning Board Pleased

It is standard practice for municipal officials to pass around the praise when a job has been completed, but Township Mayor John D. Wallace spoke with particular feeling Monday night about the work done by Township Planning Board members in drawing up the revised zoning ordinance. The board will go out of existence next month when the ordinance takes effect.

He reminded the audience that several board members also serve on the Regional Planning Board and therefore have had twice as much home work as most volunteer members of municipal bodies.

The Township's board has a mix of Republicans and Democrats but the mayor made no mention of partisan affiliation and distributed his praise equally, and by name.

Two members, Abbot Mofat and William Suthon, are currently running on the Democratic ticket for election to Committee. Golda Gutliel is an unsuccessful Democratic Committee candidate a few years ago and James A. Floyd is one of Committee's two Democrats.

Hans K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, was active for many years as a Republican and Mayor Wallace is a Republican. Other Township Planning Board members are Martha Lamar, W. J. Shinn, Gerald Brisse and Charles Berry. Mayor Wallace also mentioned the work of Administrator Joseph R. Nini, who served on the board until this year.

plex staging and lighting equipment is too much for young children, but just right for the early teens in the Middle School.

Mr. Biringer added that the school is so large a principal cannot keep in close contact with children in classrooms, or work closely with teachers.

When Borough and Township school systems were merged, the middle school age population was over 1,000, according to Ralph Hyman, administrative assistant to Dr. McPherson. This figure has now dropped to 856, which is "just right" for John Witherspoon.

Mr. Biringer said the present John Witherspoon elementary population is 665. Two years ago, it was 822.

Found Unsatisfactory. Dr. McPherson conceded that the two school arrangement for the Middle School it consists of Community Park and Valley Road was never satisfactory. "The problem at the time was number of kids," he pointed out.

Today, the Superintendent continued, a number of Middle School students go to the high school for math classes. High school teachers of Latin and typing go to the Middle School to give classes, and high school students tutor Middle School students.

With middle school students at John Witherspoon, high school and middle school would be close together, separated only by Walnut Lane.

If the schools are indeed shifted, some redistricting of elementary schools will take place, Mr. Hyman said, commenting that re-arrangement is necessary from time to time, in any case.

He said that, in redistricting, the schools would make as few changes as possible, would maintain natural neighborhood, keep racial and social integration, preserve educational programs and do everything possible to minimize danger to children, such as might occur in school crossings.

The future of the Valley Road school building is the largest question mark in the proposal. It might replace Stony Brook as the school administration building (Stony Brook could then be sold maybe). Or it could be the central maintenance facility, the school for special education programs, the center for auxiliary athletics, a teacher center, computer center, central

COME AND BUY!

At Christmas Boutique, Christmas will come early in November for shoppers at the Christmas Boutique. Each year, the Boutique is sponsored as a fund-raising event by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital. Proceeds benefit the hospital.

This year, the dates are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 7, 8 and 9 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday will be "Slag Evening." The Boutique will be held in the Nassau Inn. Admission is $1.

Shops to be represented will be The Calico Cat (Princeton); The Children's Boutique (Elkins Park, Pennsylvania); Fances, Inc. (Wilmington, Del.); Cherubini (Locust Valley, N.Y.); Giris Imports (Columbus, O.); Jewels Fargo (Rye, N.Y.); Mark, Fore and Strike (Palm Beach, Fla.); Mill Pond House (Oyster Bay, N.Y.); Orvis (Manchester, Vt.); Rulhie's Run (Lake Placid, N.Y.); Vendor Toy Shoppe (Peddlers' Village, Pennsylvania) and The Christmas Book and Holiday Gourmet, both sponsored by the Auxiliary.

CONCENTRATE HOUSING

For Better Land Use. Zoning for more apartments, town houses and small residential lots will mean that less of New Jersey's limited supply of land has to be allocated to housing, and more can be allocated to open space. At the same time, more housing can be made available.

Last week, more than 150 guests of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council conference on "Housing and Open Space" heard John P. Keith, president of the Regional Plan Association, predict the future of the three-county area and join with other speakers in talking about the future.

Princeton-based participants in the conference, held at Rutgers, were Henry S. Patterson, president of the Council who served as chairman; John P. Moran, Princeton University's manager of Physical Planning and Facilities; Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Princeton Regional Planning Board; Ian Walker, executive director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association and Golda Gottlieb, executive director of the Study Council.

In the audience of 150 were real estate agents, representatives of industry, planning board professionals and members from all three counties, members of conservation commissions, architects, mayors and candidates for public office, as well as the general public.

IT'S CHRISTMAS! If Hallowe'en is near, can Christmas be far behind? Not for sponsors of the Christmas Boutique, presented each year by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital. Here are Mrs. David Frothingham and Mrs. Phillips B. van Dusen, patrons choirmen, in a seasonal setting.

More Desks. Mr. Keith predicted that in 13 years — by 1985 — the three counties will have triple the present number of office jobs. With little or no growth in industrial jobs, Mercer, in which Princeton is located, will have 48,000 office jobs, by 1985, compared to 30,000 in 1967, he said.

Because office jobs aren't dependent on highway access and tend to cluster together in a central location — in contrast to factory jobs — the three-county area should concentrate its housing and facilities so that everyone could get to work via public transportation.

"Minorities and low-income people will then have better access to employment because there will be public transportation, and to housing because there will be greater choice," he said. "It will also cut down on highway needs, save open space and reduce pollution."

Housing and open space are also linked in the concept of cluster development, he said. Clustering gives a town more open space and makes development cheaper for the developer because street and utility costs are less, he continued.

He also asked counties to play a bigger part in planning and in locating the major facilities that people must travel long distances to use. All counties, Mercer, Somerset and Middlesex included, should do more to provide low cost and public housing, he said. He urged a state-wide development plan, with the state steering its capital budget toward the kind of concentrated housing jobs development he proposed.

He compared the three counties constituting the Council with metropolitan San Diego.

Tulsa and Toledo Combined, they have about 10,000 square miles, he said, whereas Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer have 846. Each of the three counties, by the year 2,000, he warned, will have the same population as the three metropolitan areas have today.

This was the first Study Council conference of its kind. Mrs. Gottlieb said this week that a follow-up conference will be held in the spring, involving state government officials in the planning discussions.

ZONERS CHALLENGED

By Angry Women Retailer. "If they are going to make hash out of me, let's make it a public issue. Let everyone know there are certain rules for some people and rules for others."

"If they want to stop me, let them take legal action. I see nothing wrong in what I'm doing. I'm there legally."

The woman throwing down the gauntlet to the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment last week was Olga J. Hall, a blonde firebrand from Grover's Mill. She is fighting for a reversal of a ruling by the Borough Zoning Officer to cease a retail operation at 11 Spring Street.

Mrs. Hall withdrew her case — the board would not have been legally able to hear it, anyway, since she had failed to notify neighbors within 200 feet as required by law — but not before she leveled some sharp words at the board. She told its members that she felt she had been unjustly treated, that the Borough had no right to tell her to stop selling "I'm not a second-class citizen," he said.

the Borough began August 28 when the zoning officer, Donald Harney, wrote her informing her that a certificate of occupancy had not been issued for a change in use for the building at 44 Spring Street. In February, 1965, she had received a permit after stating that the proposed use would be a beauty parlor. A month later, Mrs. Hall was issued a permit for a sign to read Royal Oaks Beauty Salon.

"You are now conducting a retail business in a RO I district residential office, which is not permitted," Mr. Harney wrote Jimmy Hall's Princeton Furniture Exchange was a cupcake, the building he ordered her to cease operation immediately.

"I've Always Sold Retail" To Mrs. Hall, the big question was not whether she could sell furniture but whether she could sell retail. "I've always sold retail," she insisted.

Three months after she opened, she was selling dresses, jewelry and gifts. "Every beauty shop I know in town sells retail. They have to survive," she told the board.

When a new zoning ordinance in 1960 changed 44 Spring Street from a business to a residential-office zone, Mrs. Hall claimed that it had nothing to do with her. "I don't feel you have the right to walk in and tell me I can't go on selling when I have been selling since 1965."

"Everybody knew I was selling. The Borough knew it. They told me in 1968, when I asked, that I didn't need a license to sell. It was retail then, it's retail now."

"How many people need more than one occupancy permit," she asked. "I've always been there. I never left the building. Why should I have to be subjected to this? I was selling retail before any change. Why tell me I'm doing something that I've already been doing for seven years?"

The questions, statements and threats came thick and fast, and throughout it all Mrs. Hall kept asking, Why now alter all these years? Whatever little she may have accomplished, she left with the ball clearly in the Borough's end of the court.

"We will wait to see what she does next before we take any steps," commented Bernard Glover, assistant zoning officer. He added that he hoped the differences between the Borough and Mrs. Hall could be solved without court action.

BELLE MEAD GIRL DIES

Following Car Collision. Suzanne G. Weldon, 19, of Willow Road, Belle Mead, died in Princeton Medical Center Saturday some three hours after her car was involved in a collision on the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road just north of Carter Road.

The second driver, Mrs. Virginia M. Wilkinson, 51, of 55 Little Brook Road, was admitted in fair condition to the Medical Center suffering from multiple injuries.

Lawrence Township police report that the Weldon car was heading north and the Wilkinson car was coming in the opposite direction when one of the drivers apparently skidded on a curve and crossed the center line. It was raining at the time. Police are still continuing their investigation of the 10 a.m. crash.

Dr. Michael Tricarico, 36, of 905 Herrontown Road, a children's psychiatrist, sustained a broken nose Saturday when his car collided with another at the intersection of Route 206 and Ewing Street, one of the most accident-prone spots in the Township.

His wife Sandra, 31, and his two daughters, Bohne, 12, and Jane, 11, were all treated for minor injuries at the Medical Center and released.

The second driver, Robert Herzog of Parsippany escaped injury.

Hits Parked Car Douglas M. Kabay, 23, 28 Witherspoon St., received abrasions and contusions Friday afternoon when his pickup truck, owned by Obal Garden Mart, struck a parked car on Mercer Street near Edgehill.

Mr. Kabay told police he was looking for a delivery address and apparently had drifted to the right. He was ticketed for careless driving by P.D. Victor Fasanella.

The parked station wagon, owned by the Rev. Richard S. Armstrong, 35 Mercer, was extensively damaged. The impact pushed it 25 feet into a utility pole.

SCHOOL CHILD STRUCK

Two Drivers Charged. Seven-year-old Christopher Crafton, 369 Ridgeview Road, was struck by a mini-bus last week as he alighted from a school bus at Bayard Lane and Avalon Place — but Borough police did not learn of the incident until informed later by a witness.

Young Crafton was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a contusion of the forehead and other abrasions and contusions and released. David Day of 62 Wheatstee Lane, a witness to the accident, report ed it later to police.

The driver who allegedly struck the child, Nancy J. Figgins, 39, of Monmouth Junction, refused to give police a statement. Sgt. Robert Anderson identified the school bus driver as Harold Mynes, 21, of 364 Franklin Avenue. He issued a summons to Mr. Mynes for failing to report an accident where injuries were involved.

Mrs. Figgins was charged with the same offense and also ticketed for passing a school bus.

Police quoted Mr. Mynes as saying he had stopped at the intersection and opened the school bus door. The bus' red lights were flashing, he said.

He watched the children as they went down the steps and across the front of the bus. Then, he said, he looked in his side view mirror, saw a car come along side of the bus. He heard brakes squeal and then saw the boy fall to the roadway.

TRENTON PAIR ACCUSED

Of Alcohol Possession. Lester Jackson, 20, and a 17-year-old juvenile, both from Trenton, were arrested Thursday evening at Nassau and Moore streets by Ptl. Victor Fasancilla, who charged them with possession of whiskey and beer.

Jackson was later released, pending a court appearance here on October 18. The juvenile was released to his parents.

The previous day, Hyman Rosenthal, 24, of Hopewell-Pennington Road, Hopewell, was arrested on Nassau Green on the Princeton University campus by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Thomas Michaud. They charged him with giving beer to two 15-year-old girls, both from Princeton.

At the same time, Det. Michaud arrested a 15-year-old boy for panhandling. The officer said that the youth had begged money from him.

Commenting on the panhandling charge, Chief Michael Carnevale reported that it was quite common and very annoying. "We've received many complaints from citizens in the community of young people on Nassau Street asking for money," he said.

Arrests for illegal possession of alcohol is also on the rise. Said Chief Carnevale: "There's been a definite upswing in arrests and use of alcohol by minors."

Marijuana Arrest. James Attenborough, 20, of Princeton-

Kingston Road was arrested Thursday evening by Detectives Huizing and Michaud for possession of marijuana.

He was picked up at the rear of the Student Center on the university campus. He has a date in Borough court Oct. 18.

TWO MEN JAILED

For Attempted Entry. Two men are presently in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bail, after Township police last week charged them with attempted breaking and entering, loitering with intent to steal, and possession of a stolen car.

Arraigned before Mercer County Judge Clifton Bennett were Ernest L. Perry, 21, a demolition expert from Bloomfield, and Kevin M. McNamara, 20, a student from Orange. They were apprehended shortly after noon last Wednesday by Sgt. Michael Kopliner and Ptl. Anthony Gaylord.

According to police, the two tried to enter the Princeton-Kingston Road home of an elderly woman by trying to force open the front door. Failing this, they attempted to force open a basement door with a shovel.

Police, responding to an alarm, arrested one of the pair in the rear yard. The other was nabbed behind bushes after he had run to the area of the Kingston Bridge.

Their car, parked directly across from the intended victim's house, had been stolen in Lyndhurst, police said.

Apartments. Entered. Borough police report that two second floor apartments at 20 Witherspoon Street were entered Friday evening and a portable TV taken from each.

There were no signs of forced entry. Detective Timothy Huizing is continuing the investigation.

FAKE NUN CHARGED

With Soliciting. A Brooklyn resident has been charged by Borough police with impersonating a nun and soliciting for a fictitious organization.

Norma Worthey, 33, was arrested last week on Witherspoon and Nassau Streets by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Thomas Michaud, some 20 minutes after police had received a call that a nun was soliciting on Spring Street for St. Michael's Church. A check with the church revealed that it had no one out soliciting for it.

The woman was later released in her own recognizance to await a hearing in Borough court on the 18th. She had $25 in her possession at the time of her arrest, police said.

BROADWAY PRODUCERS: Barclay and Dennis MacRae of Roosevelt will produce a comedy, "Let Me Hear You Smile," on Broadway this winter.

Roosevelt Couple to Produce Play on Broadway This Winter

Most people would probably rate producing a play on Broadway as one of the more frightening tasks, and certainly one of the riskiest, but to Barclay and Dennis MacRae of Roosevelt, in the middle of their maiden venture, it's been a wonderful experience all the way.

Amateurs, in every sense of the word, the MacRaes had never even considered the idea of producing a play until it was proposed to them. However, blessed with a refreshingly unrestricted life-style and a willingness to strike out in new directions, the MacRaes didn't hesitate long to take on the challenge.

Now, a little more than a year later, they are aiming toward a Broadway opening in late January, 1973 with a three-character comedy, "Let Me Hear You Smile." It stars Sandy Dennis and James Broderick.

The planning began in August, 1971, when the MacRaes were out in Delmont, Pa., at the Apple Hill Playhouse run by Harry Cauley. Mr. Cauley, who grew up in Princeton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Cauley, 13 Charlton Street, had known Barclay and Dennis for three years going back to the time when he and Dennis had been in "The Tender Trap" together on tour.

Two Authors Collaborate. Mr. Cauley and Leonora Thein, both of whom have had previous plays on Broadway, had spent a good part of that summer working on "Let Me Hear You Smile," a play originally conceived by Mr. Cauley. Put on in May at the Apple Hill Playhouse and again in August after extensive re-writing, the play got a tremendous response from audiences there.

"Everybody was saying it was a hit and the decision was made to take it to Broadway," Barclay related. "Lee and Harry asked us if we would like to produce it. We thought about it for a week, and when we found out there weren't too many disadvantages, we said yes."

"After we talked to a few people about what had to be done, we realized there weren't too many things that were going to get in our way," Dennis commented.

"It was something like a rookie season in the National Basketball Association. We got bumped around from time to time by running into tough people. But if you believe in something, the way we do in this play, you have to go through a tremendous amount to be discouraged."

Agents Avoided. The MacRaes went about the production in untypical fashion. "We avoided agents where ever we could, and this cut down on time considerably," Barclay said. In the end, the actors would consult with their agents, but the initial contact worked to our advantage."

Sandy Dennis was signed first, then James Broderick. The third part will be played by Jack Zaharia, who played it in the performances in the Apple Hill Playhouse. "We looked around for a long time for someone to play the part, and then finally came to realize that we had the best man right here in Jack," Barclay commented.

News Of The THEATRES

Accountants and lawyers also had to be hired (50 per cent of the time spent producing a play is on legal work according to Dennis) and also a good general manager.

In Barclay and Dennis' case it was Theatre Now, an organization which could take over much of the day to day work, make sure all details were handled correctly, and most importantly negotiate the many contracts that have to be signed, not just with the actors, but set designers, costume designers etc.

Basically, "Let Me Hear You Smile," is a comedy about Hannah and Ned Heywood and her brother Willy, who lives with them. In Act One, they are in their 70s. Act Two takes place 35 years earlier, and in Act Three, they are six, five and four.

In each act, one of the three is trying to run away in a rather desperate attempt to escape time. After all rational attempts to dissuade the run-aways fail, each in turn is kept from leaving when the other two invoke the "promise" made when they were children.

Christmas Night Opening. The show will go into rehearsal for three weeks beginning December 4, and open Christmas Night at the Hannah Theatre in Cleveland.

A week later it will move to the Forrest Theatre in Philadelphia for two weeks, then on to the Nixon Theatre in Pittsburgh, and finally into New York, where it will open January 27 after two days of previews, either at the Morosco or the Golden, depending on which is free at the time.

For the MacRaes, the solid belief, naturally enough, is that this show cannot miss being a hit. But after several years of marriage, two children, plus a third adopted, they are realistic enough not to be shattered if it isn't.

Barclay grew up in Kings-ton, attended Miss Flagg School and The Master's School, before going out to the University of Arizona, where she met Dennis.

His main desire was to be an actor, and this has, of course, meant periods of unemployment in between stints with summer stock at various places, commercials, a season with McCarter, and a movie, "The Equipment," shot in Jamaica, that never got released.

But this has rarely caused problems between them. Barclay has held down jobs at various places including working as secretary and office manager for Peter, Paul and Mary. Their relationship has weathered the ups and downs of this business extremely well.

Currently, Dennis is working as a program director and a disc jockey at radio station WTNJ, after having attended radio school for four months in North Carolina.

Because they are first-movers, the MacRaes believe strongly in trying to interest other people in the theatre. They have the backing necessary to put this production on the stage, but they would be happy to hear from others who might be interested in joining them. They have formed the Angel's Point Company with offices on Broadway in New York.

The remaining units are being sold for $3,000 apiece. "We would like to give others an opportunity to join us in this venture," Barclay said. "If nobody responds at least we have given people a chance."

"THROAT" HELD OVER

At Prince, The X-rated film, "Deep Throat," begins a second week at the Prince Theatre, U.S. 1, following a flurry of publicity that included a story in The New York Times.

Considered a "hard core" pornography movie, its New York showing was raided by police earlier this year. Budco chain spokesman Steve Marrs reported on Monday that "attendance at the Prince is very good."

He added solemnly, "It is one of the largest grossing pictures."

News Of The Theatres

"It's not any kind of a record-breaker. It's just a fill-in until we could get 'Funny Girl.'"

Throat! has caused the Prince Theatre to hire 13 over-21 ushers and ticket takers to replace underage staff. The staff includes a guard to the k in the ages of attendees.
County politicians added to the publicity. Mercer County Prosecutor Bruce Schragger announced to the Associated Press. When people want to watch their money on pornography, that's OK with me. I don't believe in censorship.
State Senator William E.
Sullivan, R-Mercer, called the "f---in' gutter junk." He headed a study commission that recommended control for government.

The state's new anti-obscenity law, he said, is probably too vague to be enforced. His commission's recommendation was rejected by the legislature in favor of the broader phrasing of the new law.

One Princeton viewer commented to Town Topics that
"Clockwork Orange is rated
'X,' then 'Deep Throat' should be XXX." For an other viewpoint, see "M.J.

Princeton Playhouse is currently offering a counter attraction, "All You Wanted to Know About Sex (And Were Afraid to Ask)," starting comic Woody Allen. That one is R-rated.

FILMS . . .
"Satyricon," "Derby." Two showings of the Fellini "Satyricon" will enlighten McCaber's fall film revival series this weekend. The Fellini will be shown this Friday at 7 p.m. and again at 9:15.

The 1970 epic is based on the writings of Petronius who described the goings-on in Nero's court as a form of blackmail against the Roman emperor. Fellini himself uses the "Satyricon" for his own imaginative and private visions.

Next Tuesday, the "Movies at McCarter" series will continue at 8 p.m. with a showing of "Derby," the 1971 cinema verite documentary about Roller Derbies.

Critics have said that the impact of "Derby" lies in its examination of lower middle-class life, in particular the lonely life of a rubber worker in Dayton, Ohio, who aspires to be a Roller Derby star.

FOR HALLOWEEN
"Hansel and Gretel" The annual Halloween production of Humperdinck's opera "Hansel and Gretel" will be given on year on Tuesday, Oct. 9, at McCarter Theatre.

The Princeton Opera Association has scheduled two performances of the well-loved children's opera, one at 10:30 a.m. and one at 2:30. This year marks the tenth year that the Association has given
"Hansel and Gretel" as a Halloween treat for Princeton's children.

As before, the production will be under the direction of Igor Chichagov, who has been artistic director of the Princeton Opera Association for the past 11 years. Rolita D'Alpra will be stage director and Shirley Smith, director of the children's chorus.

Association singers presented "Carmen" last week at the Garden State Art Center.
It was the first time the New Jersey State Council for the Arts has sponsored an opera production at the Center.

TO BE CASSANDRA
In "Agamemnon," Cassandra MacCormick has been assigned to play Cassandra in the McCarter Theatre production of "Agamemnon" that will launch the new repertory season. Clifford David will portray the Queen's lover Agamem-non.
Miss Duff MacCormick received a Tony Award nomination for her performance
"Monterchildren" on Broadway.

and in addition won a Theater World Award and a New York Drama Critics Award.

Mr. David attracted critical attention with his portrayal of Lord Byron in Tennessee Williams' "Camino Real" when the play was revived at London Center.

In the large "Agamemnon" cast will be three Princeton actors — Karl Light, Anne Sheldon and Peter Blaxill.

WORK ON YOUR ACTING
New Workshop Planned. Belly Fenton, Princeton resident who has had extensive experience as an actor in theatre, radio and television, will conduct an Actor's Workshop for Princeton Community Players, starting October 14 and continuing for eight weeks.

This Sunday, the Players will hold their first general meeting of the season at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church, and those interested in Mrs. Fen-ton's workshop are invited to attend. Membership in the workshop will be limited to 25 and registration will be at Sunday's meeting.

The Players' first production of the season will be Lillian Hellman's "Toys in the Attic," now in rehearsal.

PURE BLACK . . .
In "Black Love," The Pure Black Poets, a Philadelphia group founded in California in early 1971, will appear at the Princeton Youth Center Friday, October 13 (8 p.m.), under the sponsorship of the Nanaberry Arts Workshop.

The Pure Black Poets have named their presentation
"Black Love," and they will appear on the program with the Okhobgo Dancers. Tickets, at $2.50 ($1.50 for students),
are on sale at the Center.
First known as "Jewels of Thought," the Pure Black Poets have performed on Army bases, college campuses, in Philadelphia's Black Expo '72 and in the First Annual African Affair in Monterey, California.

TRY YOGA FOR FREE
At Ballet Society. On Wednesday morning, October 11, at 10 a.m., a free introductory yoga class will be held at the studios of the Princeton Ballet Society, 202 Alexander Street, where for the first time yoga classes are being offered two mornings a week by Condon
Brown and his wife Karen.

The free introductory class will provide the opportunity to learn about yoga exercises, breathing techniques and relaxation. Special emphasis is placed on helping students to become more sensitive to the initial appearance of physical and mental tension and then learning specific techniques to dissolve the tension.

While leotards and tights are recommended, any loose clothing suitable for floor exercises may be worn for the free open class. Anyone over 16 years is invited to attend. It is suggested that participants bring a soft mat or folded blanket for floor exercises.

IT'S NEW To Us

BASEBALL MITT SOFAS And Mirrored Glass Mods.

A preview of everything new in furniture and decorating trends is offered in "Debut '73". We went down to Viking Furniture, 259 Nassau, prepared to be jolted, and we were.

Did you ever sit in a field or's mitt? The Viking has one — sofa size, covered in a light brown leather and stuffed with something soft. It is stitched and laced, ready for a Paul Bunyan character to race around with — or to be placed in the young modern's name — and it is made in Italy. A new furniture line "Canada," features elegant rod, spaghetti chair — so named wood (or teak) with black for its curving chrome shape formica in elegant, far-sighted designs. There's a handsome buffet and china unit with drop-hinge fronts as a serving stuff. You can choose fabric; sliding glass doors, and color.

DEBUT '73, a trend-shaping show of home furnishings for changing life styles, is on view at Viking Furniture, with an added look at colors and fabrics.

The same Canadian in bedroom furniture, with an innovative chest for the man in the family. It combines a chest and armoire, offering six drawers, and two shelves behind doors. It perches on the triple dresser, all of deep, grainy rosewood, with black "sueded" formica at the front of the drawers. Also in teak if you prefer.

The bedroom set includes a bed box with about 25 spring slats to support mattress. The headboard, covered in black leather, pulls up for reading in bed. On the side are cantilevered night tables. There's a hanging lamp that has won a design award and is now among the treasures of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The copy at the Viking shows a great sweep of imagination in cut white plastic. In fact, most of the Debut '73 lamps are real eyeopeners. From Dryland Smith, Viking shows an interesting bedroom set combining rosewood, steel and here and there — a lacquer the color of

Engagements and Weddings

ENGAGEMENTS

Fiumenero-Dunham. Miss Sally Ann Fiumenero, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fiumenero of Plainsboro, to Larry W. Dunham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Dunham of 1, Rocky Hill. A May wedding planned.

Miss Fiumenero, a graduate of Franklin High School and the Nancy Taylor Secretarial School, is employed by EPIC Diversified Systems. Mr. Dunham, an alumnus of South Brunswick High School, served in the Army in Vietnam and is now employed by Phelps Dodge Corporation.

WEDDINGS

Johnson-Sloboski. Mrs. Barbara L. Sloboski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sloboski of Titusville, to Thomas Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Hupwell. September 30. First Presbyterian Church of Titusville. The couple are graduates of Hupwell Valley Central High School. The bride is employed by Western Electric. Her husband is serving with the Air National Guard. The couple will live in Washington Crossing.

Color Creations is displaying Rose Martin's excellent decorative soapstone sculptures by Rose Rappaport and Alexis John's oils. There are crowd pictures, framed prints, jewelry from Mexico that is one of a kind, and much more. In addition to original art, the shop has lithographs on canvas ($12). There are samples framed to show you how much they resemble originals. The works range from the old masters of the French Impressionist school to contemporary artists, Dali to Warhol. There are also copies of paintings mounted on plaques the size of the originals, all with the young artists' names with low budgets in mind.

Debut '73 includes arrangements of furniture as it would possibly be used, and the Viking has come up with some good ideas. Near the Viking linker toy set-up, look for an excellent desk that comes down from the wall. Made of AVS plastic, the wall support is covered with corkboard, the desk section has a series of wells on one side for pens, and so on; and in the living area a couple of 'mudboxes' ($90).

Debut '73 knock knacks include an amusing horny snail. Based on Dr. Doolittle stories, and a metal mobile that's a parody of an early living machine.

For soft lighting, see the sculpture 'Interplay,' made of chrome and steel with light glowing from slotted angles. It looks like an abstract skyscraper, reduced to about five feet high.

And, a new material, white fiberglass molded into a chair shell. Cover the foam cushioning with anything you like. It's a chair that's comfortable, it wiggles, the arms are low, and it offers multiple use.

Viking Furniture also is showing an unusual sideboard cabinet. The shape is a love oval of rosewood. It stands about four feet plus in height and contains five adjustable shelves. Made in Europe.

COLOR CREATIONS

On Nassau Street, A new shop on the Princeton scene is Color Creations at 20 Nassau. It was opened September 18 by Doreen and Don Wible. The shop offers art for a variety of price sizes. Mrs. Wible's own paintings, still Framing. Color Creations does custom framing. You will see a wide choice of frame corners for choosing color, design and, if you wish, matt. The shop has also stocked ready-made frames.

Along one wall is a representation of a series of 12 color sketches of Williamburg, already framed. There are several framed primitives, some woodcuts as well.

Mr. Wible, who is in the printing business, has art reproduction services that artists and artlovers may well explore.

"We have a little bit for everybody," Mrs. Wible says of her small, tasteful shop. "We have priced ourselves for everybody who likes art."

Color creations is open from 10 a.m. until around 5 p.m. on Mondays through Saturdays.

MUSIC In Princeton

TWO CONCERTS PLANNED

By Friends of Music. The Friends of Music at Princeton will present the first student concert for this season on Sunday, October 8 at 3:30 p.m. in the Woolworth Center rehearsal room.

The performer will be Jean Thomas, soprano, with Margaret Lambert at the piano, Stuart Mindlin, Percussion, Jayn Seigel, Flute and John MacDonald, Clarinet.

Mrs. Thomas is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is at present studying voice with Shirlee Emmons. She sang the part of Frasquita in the summer production of the Princeton Opera Association's "Carmen" and will sing the Sandman in their production of "Hansel and Gretel" in the fall. Mrs. Thomas has also been soloist with several local groups including the Musical Amateurs, the Music Club and the Princeton University Glee Club.

Mrs. Thomas' program will include songs by Mozart, Virgil Thomson, Aaron Copland, David Diamond, Schubert, Samuel Barber and Turina.

The Friends will also present Phyllis Alpert, pianist, in a recital on Friday, October 13 at Woolworth Center at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Lehrer was on the faculty of the Longy School of Music in Cambridge, Mass., and currently she is teaching privately in New Jersey and part time at the Westminster Choir College. For the past five years she has studied with Madame Lilly Dumont at the Longy School of Music. She has concertized extensively in New York, Massachusetts, California and New Jersey.

Mrs. Lehrer's program will be: Bach: Toccata in D; Mozart: Sonata in C, K. 330; Jerome Jolles: Solo for Piano-forte (1968); Debussy: Images, Set 1; Schumann: Phantasie in C, Opus 17.

Both concerts are open to the public, admission free.

SERIES I TO OPEN

With Garrick Ohlsson, Pianist. Garrick Ohlsson, pianist, will open this season's Series I of the Princeton University Concerts on Monday, October 16 at 8:30 p.m. at McCarter Theatre.

The 24-year-old pianist from White Plains, N. Y. and first American prize winner of the Chopin International Competition in Warsaw has been hailed as a virtuoso in the grand manner. Since making his debut with the Philadelphia Orchestra in 1970, he has performed extensively here and abroad and critics have been unanimous in their praise.

For his program in Princeton, Mr. Ohlsson will play: Chopin: Two Polonaises, Opus 26, Barcarolle in F# Major, Opus 60, Four Mazurkas, Opus 41, Andante Spianato and Grande Polonaise Brillante in E Major, Opus 22, Brahms: Sonata in F Minor, Opus 5.

Tickets are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office at $6 and $15. Student tickets may be obtained one hour before the performance at $2.

MEMBERSHIP AVAILABLE

To Opera Theatre, Opera Theatre of New Jersey, Greater Trenton Area Chapter, is now making Charter Memberships available to Princeton residents.

A ticket to three major operatic productions at Trenton's War Memorial Auditorium, ad mission to dress rehearsals, and reduced rates to preperformance operagoers are among the benefits of Charter Membership.

Opera Theatre will bring three major productions to Trenton's War Memorial during the 1972-73 season. Hansel and Gretel will be performed in English on Saturday, December 16, at 2 p.m. Puccini's Madame Butterfly, starring internationally acclaimed Dorothy Kirsten and Giuseppe Campora of the Metropolitan Opera, will be staged at the War Memorial on Friday, February 23, at 8 p.m.

Verdi's Otello is scheduled for Saturday, April 23, at 8 p.m., starring Pier Miranda Ferraro of Milan's La Scala in the title role.

Operagoers are pre-performance mini-productions which include analysis of the work, detailed plot explanation, and musical excerpts with commentary by Maestro Alfredo Siliopini, Opera Theatre's artistic director and conductor.

Charter members also receive special charter listing and advance information about Opera Theatre social functions. Applications for Charter Membership are available from the Greater Trenton Area Chapter, 770 Highway 33, Hamilton Square, New Jersey, 08690, 587-8984.

News Of The Theatres

to be sung next Thursday, October 12 at McCarter starting at 8 p.m. Karl Biecher is conductor of the 140-singer choir. Soloists will be Elisabeth Spelsor (soprano); Anna Heynolds (contralto); Keith Engen (bass) and Ernst Gerald Schramm (bass).

MORE "GODSPELL"

Easter Sunday. An Easter Sunday (April 22) matinee performance of "Godspell" has been scheduled by McCarter. The Easter Sunday evening performance is sold out, and standing room-only remains.

October 13 has been sold out for several weeks. Not even standing room is available for this performance.

BATSHIVA DANCERS

From Israel. The Israeli Batshiva Dance Company of 30 dancers will open the 1972-73 dance series sponsored each year by McCarter Theatre and the Princeton Ballet Society.

The dancers will perform on Sunday, November 26 in a matinee presentation. Tickets for the Batshiva are now on sale at the box office, and subscription tickets for all seven dance events are on sale also.

The next company will be the Jeffrey H. Ballet, apprentice company of the City Center Jeffrey Ballet, which will appear in McCarter January 7. The Dancers of Bali will return January 14 with a troupe of 50 dancers, clowns and full gamelan orchestra. The group hasn't visited Princeton since the late 1950's.

The Polish Mime Ballet Theatre is scheduled for February 3, and the Merce Cunningham Dance Company on February 18. Alvin Ailey will bring his Dance Theatre back for the fourth consecutive time on Monday, April 2, and the Princeton Regional Ballet will bring the season to a close on April 16 with a full-length presentation of "Coppelia."

PLAYHOUSE

All You Wanted To Know About Sex (now playing) II, bent on breaking his royal lady's chastity belt, court jester Woody Allen mumbles a reason for haste, "before you know it, the Renaissance will be here and we'll all be painting." Naturally, the comedian gets his hand locked in the contraption.

There are other episodes, each is one of seven questions drawn from the title, based in turn from the Dr. David Reuben bestseller. The answers are vaudeville, increasing in pace as the film moves along. Episodes include "What's My Perversion?" with panelists trying to guess; "Are Transvestites Really Homosexual?"

"What Is Sodomy?" "Are Sex Research Findings Accurate?" and so on. Sometimes the answers are funny. Sometimes, to quote the script, they just lie there like lux.

GARDEN

"A Night at the Opera" and "A Day at the Races," two Marx Brothers classics, give Princeton moviegoers a study in contrasts between contemporary and oldtime comedy—if they plan to catch the Woody Allen flick as well. The Marx Brothers, with their dizzy blondes, wild chases, and confused plots, have a comic style all their own, with proling, sardonic, cigar-chomping Groucho at the crux of it all.

PRINCE

Deep Throat (now playing) is straight pornography, a plotless footage of film recording sex acts.

It turns on a light, sounds (later a loud horn sound) to help scare intruders and warn you.

This new 3M Alarm System is an ultrasonic motion detector that covers a fast drop shaped area up to 300 square feet in size in most homes or small businesses, one unit, aimed at a main traffic area, can give desirable security. Just plug it in. It's portable. Weighs only 1 1/2 pounds. Solid against even the most determined intruder. And there's an optional extra loud horn for placement inside or outside.

DRIVER IS FINED

For Drunk Driving, David W. Jones, 40, of Blawenburg was fined $60 in Borough traffic court Monday for driving while unpaired by alcohol.

In addition, his license was revoked for six months, Mr. Jones pleaded guilty.

TWO MORE SHOPLIFTERS

At Hamberger's. The weekly arrests for shoplifting at Hamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center continues.

On Monday, Constance Ware, security officer at Bam's, apprehended two girls from Kendall Park, age 15 and 14, and turned them over to Township police. One of the two had a body stocking in her possession which she had allegedly shoplifted.

After processing, Township police released the girls to the custody of their parents to await action by a juvenile court.

DEFENDERS CARPI CASE

Indictment Still Sought

Now more than a year and a half later, the murder of Mrs. Laura P. Carpi has slipped from the minds of most people, but the Mercer County prosecutor's office is still doggedly trying to bring her husband, Colin C. Carpi, to trial.

The prosecutor's office had Mr. Carpi indicted for the murder by a grand jury on August 14, 1971, but the indictment was thrown out four months later by Superior Court Judge A. Jerome Moore. Judge Moore ruled that evidence from polygraph tests taken by Mr. Carpi should not have been presented to the grand jury. He also denied a hearing on the reliability of the detector tests.

POLITICAL SOUVENIR: Mary Jo Long and Rich Killmer with a poster signed by Sen. George McGovern to be sold at the McGovern "Fair for a Change" Sunday from 11 to 5 at Pardee Field on Washington Road.

First Assistant Prosecutor Wilbur Mathews presented arguments before the Appellate Division of Superior Court last week to reinstate the indictment. He argued that Judge Moore was in error in denying the hearing and quashing the indictment.

He cited cases in the state in which indictments were upheld involving evidence admitted to a grand jury, which would have been inadmissible at a trial.

The Appellate Division will file an opinion on the matter at an unspecified date.

If the appeal is denied, the prosecutor may seek a new indictment for Mr. Carpi without the polygraph evidence.

The prosecutor's office has contended that Mrs. Carpi was shot in the back of the head sometime between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m., February 8, 1971, in her rented State Road home.

Mr. Carpi was charged with her murder July 24, 1971, shortly after Mrs. Carpi's body had surfaced in New York's East River.

Prevent Fires! Firemen Ask Your Help

Three imposing and reassuring fire-trucks, one from each of Princeton's three fire companies, will be on Nassau Street and in the Shopping Center this Saturday morning to remind residents of Fire Prevention Week.

Once starts this Sunday, continuing until Saturday, October 14.

Princeton's Fire Chief Alistair M. Stewart and his men will distribute safety check-lists to passersby on Saturday and will answer any fire-prevention questions.

One of the trucks will be near Palmer Square, one in the Vandeventer area and the third in the Shopping Center. They will represent Mercer Engine No. 3, from the firehouse on Chambers Street; Princeton Engine No. 1 from the Chestnut Street firehouse and Hook and Ladder, from the firehouse on North Harrison.

Fire Prevention Week in Princeton will conclude Saturday, October 14 with the traditional Parade and Inspection of Princeton's volunteer fire companies. The firemen, with three marching bands, will start in march at 5 p.m. Inspection will be in front of Borough Hall.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN
On I-95 in Hopewell Twp. A last-ditch appeal now being considered is all that can save the Hopewell Township Citizens Committee in its five-year battle against Interstate Route 95.

U.S. District Court Judge Clarkson S. Fisher threw out the organization's latest suit Friday, initiated by New York attorney David Sive, a specialist in environmental law. The decision allowed construction to begin on a 3.4 mile stretch from Scotch Road in Ewing Township to Federal City Road in Lawrence Township.

Mr. Sive had argued that the state and federal governments could not commit funds or proceed with construction until the governments conducted an environmental impact study and held hearings on highway design. The study could have taken six months to complete.

It was required under the U.S. Environmental Policy Act of 1970, which calls for a federally funded study of possible damages that might result to the environment from the building of highways.

A V. Olcott, chairman of the citizens committee said an appeal is being considered.

This stretch is expected to be completed in October, 1974 at a cost of almost $10 million. It will be connected by a four-lane roadway to Route 295 now under construction in Lawrence west of Federal City Road. The Citizens Committee is also fighting a 265-acre cloverleaf planned for the I-95 and I-295 intersection.

The alignment through the rest of Hopewell Township has been set, but there has been no announcement of when construction will begin here.

STUDENT DRIVE PLANNED
For Magazine Subscriptions, Princeton High School students will be conducting a community wide magazine subscription drive Oct. 12-24 in an intensive effort to raise scholarship funds.

The drive, jointly organized by the Princeton High School Student Council and the PTA, will get underway with a student assembly. Student canvassers will accept new magazine subscriptions, renewals and discount introductory offer cards that may have been received through the mail.

Magazine subscriptions will start approximately 10 weeks after the order is taken. For holiday or other gifts, cards will be mailed to inform the recipient of his forthcoming gift subscription.

In addition to raising money for scholarships, students also will be eligible for a large number of prizes, including a stereo, tape cassette, digital clock, posters, pennants, mugs, color TV and trail bike.

Over the years, the magazine drive has been one of the chief scholarship fund raising events of the PTA. In lieu of subscriptions, donations to the fund also are welcome. Mrs. Melvin A. Schulman, PTA magazine drive chairman, and Jeff Lewis, president of the Student Council, are instrumental in organizing details of the drive.

"OPEN THE BUDGETING"

Councilman Asks, Boards, agencies and committees concerned with such matters as health, library books, recreation or open space should open their budget discussions to the public, declared Borough Councilman Martin P. Longardo this week.

Mr. Lombardo, who voted against the present budget because he didn't think it responded to the needs of all groups in the community, said in a prepared statement, "It is important that all citizens have an opportunity to express their feelings on how their tax dollars are spent." The Councilman also sent a memo to all the Borough's own boards and to joint Borough Township boards, asking them to hold public hearings before setting on final budget amounts. Mr. Lombardo praised the public library for its decision to hold public hearings on the library budget.

POLITICS

In Borough, Consolidation of Borough and Township is viewed with a wary eye by Borough Council candidates in both parties.

Last week's report that Borough and Township tax rates will come within a hair's breadth in the next two years, drew reserved comments this week from Republican candidates John P. Dismukes and Michael J. Myers, and Democratic candidates Barbara Sigmund and Robert Powell.

Curiously enough, it is the Borough's ethnic mix that elicited praise from both parties.

"The makeup of the Borough is decidedly different than that of the Township," said Mr. Dismukes and Mr. Myers, "minority and interest groups making up the Borough's heterogeneous population could become lost forces in a much larger population." "The life of the Borough is its ethnic and economic mix and I want to see it maintained," stated Mrs. Sigmund. "I wouldn't want a predominantly upper middle class white community," another Darien, Connecticut.

"The Borough has larger populations of Italian, Irish and blacks than the Township and a much more dramatic economic mix than the Township," Mr. Powell stated.

He pointed to the problem of representation: "would we have representatives at large, as well as district representatives under consolidation?"

Bul Princeton is ready for a new look at consolidation," he declared, "and I recommend establishment of a blue-ribbon study commission as soon as possible."

Mr. Powell added that many Borough residents are concerned about zoning, if there were consolidation. "They don't want a creeping CBD (Central Business District)," he warned, "they don't want business to edge into residential zones. I don't think Township residents are quite so aware of this problem."

The Republicans said the fiscal study was "the finest on Borough Township fiscal matters we have yet seen," but they added, "there remain a great many compelling questions which must be answered before we can support consolidation."

They declared that even though tax rates of the two Princeton draw close together, "this conclusion is self-defeating in terms of the challenge to keep Borough taxes down."

The two Republicans said they would prefer "the continuing establishment of joint governing bodies to accomplish the close mutual cooperation we all desire for the two Princetons."

Mrs. Sigmund said she would favor a full consolidation study, if it included consideration of the ethnic mix situation, as well as housing taxation, the possibility of a ward system and a "fair and equitable solution" of the problem municipal employees would face under consolidation.

NEW HOURS SET

For Two W. Windsor Schools. The West Windsor - Plainboro Regional Board of Education has approved a change in the opening and closing hours of one of the district's elementary schools.

Beginning on Monday, classes at the Plainboro and Maurice Hawk schools will start at 9 instead of 8:35 as presently scheduled. Pupil dismissal time at these schools will also be changed on Monday to 3:15. These changes do not affect the hours of the district's Dutch Neck School.

The Board, which had changed to computerized scheduling this year, was faced with finding a solution that would reduce the amount of time some students were required to wait for buses to take them home. This change will permit all buses serving Princeton High School students to be available at that building at dismissal time. In conjunction with this change, the Board also approved two additional bus routes. All students will be issued new passes prior to the change.

Other solutions weighed by the Board included adding a number of additional buses at a cost of approximately $10,000 and having all elementary pupils meet their buses before 8 a.m. The Board indicated that neither of these solutions was acceptable.

In other business, the Board approved hiring a professional negotiator to represent it in future negotiations with the district's teachers. Robert C. Duncan, Board President, explained that the Board does not have a signed agreement with the Teachers' Association. A new contract was approved in principle in June, but since that date a misunderstanding had developed and the teachers are now being represented by a professional negotiator. The Board's Negotiating Committee felt it would be unwise to continue negotiations unless it, too, had professional assistance.

The Board also voted to change its meeting dates for the months of October, No-

Collection Schedule for Clean-Up Week

Full Clean-up Week in Borough and Township will start next Monday, continuing thru Friday, October 13. In the Township, collection of material from curbside, will be scheduled according to election districts as follows:

Monday, Districts 1 and 4; Tuesday, Districts 5, 6 and 10; Wednesday, Districts 3 and 9; Thursday, Districts 2 and 11; Friday, Districts 7 and 8.

Township trucks will visit each street once only, so all material for collection must be placed at curbside before 8 a.m. on the day scheduled. In the Borough, collections will be made on normal garbage days.

Brush and tree clippings should be bagged or tied in bundles of three foot length and one foot diameter with rope or twine — NO WIRE is to be used as wire could cause injury to the workmen. Separate tree branches, up to four inches in diameter, need not be cut or bundled. These will be run thru a chipping machine as part of the cleanup service. Items such as furniture must be no larger than one man can lift.

Municipal engineers urge all residents to participate in order to eliminate the threat of fire and the menace of rodents and mosquitos. Rubbish and debris should be removed from yards, cellars, attics and vacant lots. Additional information may be obtained from 921-7077 (Township) and 924-1495 (Borough).

November, December and January in order to accommodate Board member Deane Bornheimer who now has a conflict with his teaching schedule. The new days and dates are Monday, October 23; Monday, November 27; Thursday, December 28 and Thursday, January 25. After the Board reorganizes in February, it will select a new meeting date for that year.

In instructional matters, the Board approved the appointment of Mrs. Jean Metzger as a part time vocal music teacher at the Plainsboro School, and a change in salary guide for three teachers who have completed their master's degrees. Also approved were a number of substitute teachers, coaches and non instructional personnel.

Walter Golden, Clerk of the Works, reported on the progress of the construction of the secondary school. He indicated that the overall progress for September was good.

Citizens, Arise!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I hope all the people of the Princeton area community are fully aware of the "complicity" p.d. them with the opening at the Prince Theatre of what is considered by even some in the movie industry an especially lascivious porno graphic film.

What are we going to do about this, and the trend which it may be starting? Pay money to go to see what State Sen. Wm. E. Schluter describes as "an abomination and gutter junk?"

Sit back with closed eyes and a shut mouth and do nothing? If so, do you think this "progressive step forward" of opening such trash in a "first run, suburban theater" will be repeated, and with increasing frequency?

Or do we know that toleration of such filth and the bold introduction of it into our community as an "honor" mind you (check the N. Y. Times, Sept. 28th) is at least as deplorable as the pollution of air and water, and the destruction of bald eagles and redwood trees? Are you going to let the Quoramus Releasing Company and Mr. Terry Levine who works for them know what you think of their film distribution policies?

Or tell Mr. Robert Pood, manager of the Prince Theater, that you'll boycott his movie house because you can live without it? It's all up to you. Do nothing and you'll get what you deserve; but your children won't!

As a resident of West Windsor, I'm particularly nauseated by the new low standards evidenced by the showing of such ordure in my township. And Mr. Bruce Schaeffer, Mercer County Prosecutor, I hope you'll discover that in dividing citizens - not in church affiliation to let you know how disgusted they are by this incident, and that they desire you to plan on doing something about it.

(MRS.) ALDA ATKINSON

Mistaken Target.

To the editor of Town Topics:

The so called academic matters of pacifism, secrecy, internationalism, democratic procedure, etc. are the proper context for discussing the campaign against the Communications Research Division (CRD) of IDA. To force this discussion into the inappropriate context of the Vietnam war as Mr. Maren (TOWN TOPICS, Sept. 28) is attempting, is to act without substantive basis and to squander the precious resources of the anti-war movement.

Not knowing of any direct connection between CRD and the war, Mr. Maren has wrongfully attempted to invoke guilt by association through CRD's connection to its parent IDA and support by the Department of Defense (DOD). The implication is that all of DOD's (and its contractors') activities carry the stigma of Vietnam. It should not be forgotten that DOD's activities have a scope and longevity greatly extending beyond the Vietnam conflict.

Many of these activities are the reasonable prerogatives of a nation in assuring its own security. Condemning these reasonable activities would be similar to condemning NIH's cancer research because it is carried out under the auspices of the same government that is waging war in Vietnam.

Working for DOD, or for CRD as I do, does not in any way of thinking, imply complicity in or even agreement with the pursuit of war in Vietnam.

As an opponent of the war in Vietnam, I personally deplore at the futility of demonstrating against the war by campaigning against CRD.

CRD's remoteness from association with the Vietnam conflict, casts doubt upon the reasoning of the campaigners and demonstrators, at a time when we all wish to convince the Administration and the Congress of the rationality of the arguments against the war.

Some of these people who are to be convinced are in a position to understand exactly what CRD does and does not do. Thus, they are also in a position to form opinions as to whether the demonstrators are rational and should be heeded or are otherwise and should be ignored.

In bringing my my strictly personal opinions in this matter, I only hope that those who are putting so much effort into the anti-war movement will do so in the most effective way possible and not squander resources by changing contexts and inventing foes.

Planning, Zoning Deplorable.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It is interesting and hopefully useful to compare some of the ideological arguments being used by our planning experts in the Kopp hearings, with the way zoning is actually practiced, as for example, in the Alexander Street Service Zone. One of the main points in the Kopp case is, should the Princeton Township Board of Adjustment grant a use variance for the multiple-housing development, which is not a permitted use according to the current zoning ordinance.

Mr. Sander argues for the Planning Board that the Kopp development should wait until the new community master plan and accompanying ordinances is completed. He is quoted as saying, "It is hopefully a classic point in planning that you determine general policy procedure before any specific execution of policy."

Although the same officialdom has participated in the development of Alexander Road, the exact opposite course from this policy has been followed there. The main point about Alexander Street is that in spite of any immediate possibility of solving parking and traffic problems, various township bodies, including the Board of Adjustment, encourage development by granting variances and special permits under conditions that can only compound the problems.

I became interested in a case history study of the Alexander Street Service Zone - from master plan stage to building permit stage - long before the Rusty Scupper case. In a recent letter to TOWN TOPICS I indicated that I had been unsuccessful in obtaining answers to specific questions, addressed to the Township Committee, relating to parking and traffic safety on Alexander Road. Subsequently Mr. Nini answered some of the questions for the committee.

Briefly this is the situation on Alexander Street: Parking and traffic conditions are chaotic. Trucks park, turn around, and back during peak road use.

Cars park both parallel and perpendicular to the road. Cars park on both sides of the road and on the walkway in front of Andy's Tavern. Cars park directly in front of the Faculty Road Intersection. Pedestrians must walk in the road.

Rosedale Mills and Princeton Fuel Oil apparently do not provide parking for their employees. A restaurant is being built on the dangerous curve and it appears unlikely that adequate provision has been made for safe entrance and exit to the public thoroughfare.

In contrast with the borough section of Alexander, there are no signs in the township section, indicating any kind of parking conditions or restrictions. Speed signs were only recently installed. The implication of this is that motorists using Alexander can be fined and held responsible for traffic safety, while the commercial interests and their employees are not subject to any parking regulations at all.

Assuming there is some kind of master plan, etc., how does a situation like this develop? Is it because there is no organization to oversee the development, or is it, perhaps, over organized and under administered, and over exempt by variances?

According to Mr. Nini Responsibility for planning, parking, and traffic rests with the Regional Planning Boards insofar as the planning function is concerned, and with the Traffic Safety Committee insofar as parking regulations are concerned.

Responsibility to see that the conditions of the plan are carried out rests with the Engineering Department insofar as any construction activities are required and with respect to the posting of signs. With regard to the latter, it is also reviewed by the Traffic Bureau with regulations being enforced, of course, by the Police Department. (As I recall, the Traffic Bureau is subsidized with a $40,000 yearly federal grant - a variation on the turn-key idea.)

Since there are no parking regulations along Alexander, no parking signs are required. The Traffic Safety Committee will review the (Alexander Street) matter AFTER the restaurant is open for business to determine whether any parking regulations will be required then. It does not believe any regulations will be required because of the width of the roadway.

Details of the conditions and agreements relating to parking and traffic associated with the Rusty Scupper can be found in the records of the Board of Adjustment, the Environmental Design Review Committee, and the Regional Planning Board. A few years ago when Mr. Sander was promoting the establishment of the Environmental Design Review Committee, to perform a site plan review, one of the main sales pitches was the assurance that better control could then be obtained over parking and traffic. Alexander is the glaring example that the objective has not been realized.)

I have not talked with anyone that did not agree that the conditions on Alexander Street are deplorable, and I have not talked with anyone who did not react with disbelief that the township would approve a restaurant on the small lot on the curve.

It would be neat if one political party could be held accountable for the protracted development of a muddled master plan and zoning ordinance. Indeed the Republicans, as the long-time majority party in the township, have dominated the planning and zoning function. Unfortunately the two Democratic candidates have also served on one or more of the various boards involved, and it is not obvious things will be much different if they are elected.

acres from Community Park's recreation acreage to provide land for a new Princeton Nursery School building.

The parcel is on the curve of Route 206, next to Legett's gas station, and slightly south of a proposed jughandle for access to Mountain Avenue. The board decided that the Recreation Commission's demand for a quad pro quo the Borough Hall gym in return for the 1.2 acres, shouldn't be considered in removing the parcel from the Master Plan.

The board also gave James MacKenzie approval to subdivide property on Pine Street into four conforming lots. He will have two old buildings and remodel third. The three structures, empty since 1968, once held five apartments. Mr. MacKenzie's plans will result in four living units. He must now go before the Zoning Board for three variances.

Why I Plan to Vote

DEMOCRATIC

By Robert F. Goheen

Robert F. Goheen, 1 Orchard Circle, is chairman of the Council on Foundations, New York. For 15 years, until July 1 of this year, Dr. Goheen was president of Princeton University.

I will be voting for George McGovern for President on November 7. My feelings in this election are, of course, in part inspired by my concern and feeling of responsibility for the quality and availability of educational opportunities. There are, however, even more fundamental issues facing the country.

Both within the United States and around the world we see deep divisions between those who have and those who have not. There is not only distressing injustice, but also the latent danger of violent upheaval in this state of affairs. It emphasizes the high importance that must be attached to the moral vision of our national leadership.

I do not discount the politics of power—at which the current Administration is adept—but I assert that it is not enough, and that it can often be wrong. Witness Vietnam, the readiness of the Nixon Administration to restrict civil liberties and political dissent, its slackness on the matter of equal opportunity for underprivileged minorities.

We need a politics of human concern to guide the politics of power and make the latter its instrument, not its guiding principle. We need national leadership that will evoke our sense of justice and compassion, that will not only talk high ideals and the best of our American heritage, but devote itself to their realization in national progress and in the conduct of our Government at home and abroad.

I believe that George McGovern can offer such leadership, that he stands for the politics of human concern, that he can be counted on, not only to preach but also to pursue his and America's ideals of truthfulness and fair dealing, of the right of every man to freedom and dignity and equal justice under the law, of government which is of and by and for the people, and of cooperation and good will and peace among nations.

I am convinced that there are great resources of moral energy and strength in the people of this country—and not only among "those under 30."

I see George McGovern's quest of the Presidency as an effort to tap this vast, creative spring. It challenges us to fill ourselves out of the shallowness and unsatisfying selfishness in which so many of us waste so much of our lives. It summons us to care for our fellow men, to reach beyond our differences and divisions, to take up gladly the difficult task of building better lives, better communities, and a better world.

I am convinced that as President, George McGovern can help to move America in these directions without sacrificing national security. The remorseless hunger of the military-industrial complex for ever larger appropriations (of which President Eisenhower warned) must and can be curbed, so that both money and talent can be directed to other urgent needs. Likewise I reject and deplore the secret tactics of those who suggest a McGovern victory in the election will mean the end of all that is responsible and good in America. Instead, he seems to me to speak very much within the context and tradition of American constitutional government and of respect for individual enterprise, private property, and freedom.

REPUBLICAN

By Stanley C. Smoyer

Stanley C. Smoyer, 86 Olden Lane, is a member of the legal department of Johnson and Johnson. He served a term as Princeton Township Committeeman and has been for 9 years a member of the Natural Resource Council of the State of New Jersey.

At a time when the Presidential campaign is becoming highly emotional, with charges and countercharges on peripheral matters and with less and less discussion of the important issues, I think we should come back to the real question of whether President Nixon or Senator McGovern can do a better job of running the country. I think President Nixon can do a better job, and I arrive at this conclusion on the basis of an examination of the records and fundamental qualifications of the two candidates. Here is my analysis:

Nixon's record:

1. He has significantly reduced world tensions by his visits to and negotiations with Red China and Russia, as well as by numerous discussions with the leaders of other countries throughout the world.

2. He has carried out a program of orderly withdrawal of ground forces from Vietnam without violating our commitments to or abandoning a friendly nation seeking to preserve political and personal freedom.

3. He has reversed the tide of inflation through mandatory price and wage controls to a point where living costs have increased only 2.9 per cent in the year since the controls were imposed. Coupled with this brake on inflation has been a 4.1 per cent increase in the real spendable earnings of the average working man, the largest yearly increase on record.

4. Although controls on inflation have historically had a depressing effect on general economic conditions, the present U.S. economy is prospering and the rate of unemployment is gradually decreasing.

5. President Nixon has made a vigorous and sustained effort to try new and imaginative programs to solve the heretofore unsolvable welfare and urban decay problems through his guaranteed-income and revenue-sharing proposals, but the Democrat-controlled Congress has failed to adopt these programs. A Republican Congress would, more likely, enable him to achieve these long-sought goals.

McGovern's record: Since Senator McGovern's vocation was teaching before going to Congress, he has, of course, had less chance to develop a record than President Nixon.

Nevertheless, although he spent four years in the House and ten years in the Senate, he has seldom been prominently associated with important legislation and has never held a position of leadership in these Democrat-controlled bodies. He is principally known for his strong stand for precipitate withdrawal from Vietnam and for his long and tireless campaigns for the Presidential nomination.

Now let's look at the candidates' qualifications.

Nixon's qualifications:

1. He had six years of prominent service as a Congressman and Senator and eight years as a now-style Vice-President before becoming President.

2. He has served almost four years as a calm and collected but aggressive President in a country and world fraught with political, social and economic problems.

3. He has gathered an able, dedicated and experienced group of people as his Cabinet.

DRIVE HAS BEGUN

For Auction Items. The fall drive for antiques, art, and unique articles will begin this week by Mrs. Simon Fried, auction chairman, and John Pinelli, auctioneer, in preparation for the Stuart Bazaar.

The auction, a new addition to the bazaar, has already attracted the attention of private individuals as well as dealers on the Delaware Valley area who have contributed furniture, paintings, sterling, and china.

All items given to the auction are tax deductible. Receipts will be supplied based on the donor's evaluation or Mr. Pinelli's appraisal. Mr. Pinelli is donating his services to the school.

Committee members who will serve with Mrs. Fried are: Mrs. Robert J. Plumb, Jr., Mrs. Norbert Nelson, Mrs. Albert L. Yunko, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Dawes, Mrs. John Murray, Mrs. Giovanni Ferranti, Mrs. John Hoff, Mrs. Richard Flourney, Mrs. A. Perry Morgan, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William M. Punnett. They will

Princeton chapter of Hadassah will sponsor "Hadassah Education Day", Thursday, October 12. The day's events, will be devoted to informing the Princeton community about the various fund-raising and educational activities of this women's Zionist organization.

A booth containing a series of visual displays and brochures will be located in front of Bamberger's at the Shopping Center Mall from 10 to 9.

The local chapter of Hadassah, with its membership of 330, is part of a national parent organization which has 352,000 members and represents the largest Zionist bloc in the world. Through the efforts of each local chapter, the 60 year-old organization raised $20 million just this past year alone to carry out its comprehensive program of social services and medical projects in Israel and humanitarian programs here in the United States.

The largest allocation of the funds Hadassah collects from each local chapter goes to the maintenance and enlargement of the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center at Ein Karem in Jerusalem. This Israeli "City of Science" is available to all citizens, Arabs and Jews alike, and includes a 700 bed hospital, as well as a medical school and schools of nursing, dentistry and pharmacology.

In addition to raising funds for Israel, Hadassah seeks to participate in local communities by donating its services to various projects. The Princeton chapter, for example, works with migrant families living in the surrounding areas through its membership on the Area Committee on Programs for Migrant and Seasonal Farm Workers. Hadassah women will also be volunteering their time and services this year to the residents of the Princeton Nursing Home on Quarry Street.

The local group also sponsors study groups, book reviews, and foreign policy discussions. It also takes an active role in promoting the efforts of the United Nations.

YWCA Newcomers' Club, 12:30, Thursday, October 12. Leone Bier, vice-president of fashion and advertising for Belle Sharmeer of New York will be the guest speaker.

Her topic will be "The Exciting News from the Fashion World". She will show samples of leg and body fashions and will answer questions from the group. Nursery care is available for children aged one to five. Reservations for child care must be arranged in advance by telephoning 924-4074. Interested non-members who are new comers to the area, are invited.

ANNUAL SALE PLANNED

By Japanese Artisans. The Craftsman's Guild of Japan, a federation of artists, has announced the schedule for its second annual autumn exhibition and sale of Japanese art.

According to the Guild's press release, the exhibition will be held at the Princeton University Art Department, beginning on Saturday, October 11, and will be open every day from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through Saturday, October 28, on Fair Acres Farm, Route 27 in Kingston.

Based upon experience gained from its first exhibition during 1972 in Princeton and Brussels, a wide variety of items will be priced at under $50, including woodblock prints both antique and contemporary, etching, hand-made screens, boxwood carvings from The Peoples Republic of China, straw and bamboo lanterns and bowls from Aok Tarn in Kamuna, linear porcelain sake jugs dating from 1780, Iwate antique iron tea kettles, washi umbrellas and parasols from one of Japan's most famous craftsmen, Ueda Yoshio, the bold calligraphy of a 94-year-old master, Tanada Komei,

ART HISTORY LECTURER: Marion Burlingame-Mooley, assistant professor of Art and Archaeology of Princeton University, will deliver the first of six slide lectures this fall for the Princeton Art Association. She will discuss the paintings of Bannard and Voillard.

of Tollaro, old samurai armor, plus numerous "one of a kind" gift items for the firm who seems to have everything. The Guild continues to emphasize its unique collection of Lansu "campagna" chests in one two and three sections, dating from 1760 to 1890. Exotic woods such as Chinese Fig, Japanese Cedar, Zelkova and Cryptomeria are widely represented. Pegging and "dovetail" construction are common in all pieces. Iron hardware hand-forged rather than cast, has been detailed by engraving on many chests in order to emphasize the natural rhythmic beauty of the wood grain.

In Mr. Heiniken's words, "all items emanate either from or through the Group. Our business in Japan is overseas is on the basis of exhibition only. Because of limited availability and cost the Group neither maintains a retail shop nor sells its trade business. All we recognize that our representative selection of traditional Japanese will not have unanimous opinion of the Guild's selection, both buyers and browser, to come and share a cup of Japanese green tea at Fair Acres between October 7 and October 28."

ON VIEW AT SQUIBB: Contemporary Art. The opening of the new art gallery at E. R. Squibb & Son is being marked by an exhibition of painting and sculpture by 18 contemporary American artists.

The show will run through October 20. Appointments for the exhibit may be made by calling 921-1000. The gallery, 67 by 83 feet, overlooks a rooftop garden and a 12-acre lake in Squibb's property in Lawrence Township on the Lawrence Road.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell in TOWN TOPICS. You'll find more ads and better results than advertising in 924-2200.

The Gallery of Fine Art in Princeton has arranged an exhibition. Sculpture on display features Dorothea Greenbaum of Princeton, represented by a new sculpture not previously shown. James Kearns, Jane Tell and William King. Other New Jersey artists in the show are Darby Barnard, Clarence Carter, Thomas George, George Greene, Jack Landau, Stefan Martin, Armando Morales, Reginald Neal, Gregorio Prestopino, and Naomi Savage. New York artists are Wolf Kahn and Robert Natkin. Pennsylvania is represented by Louis Bossa and Werner Drewke.

SHOW AT PRESENT DAY

Oil Paintings on View. Oil paintings of Naomi Pollock are on exhibit at the Present Day Club on Stockton Street during October.

An artist new to this area, she originally came from Richmond, Virginia, and after some years in New York and Philadelphia is now a resident of Princeton. She has a B.S. degree from the University of Richmond and has completed the four-year certificate program at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

Her background in art also includes Art Student's League Summer Sessions, Woodstock, New York; the North Truro (Cape Cod) School of Fine Arts with Wallace Bassford, and the Malden Bridge (New York) School of Fine Arts in Albany. She taught private students in her studio for several years and conducted an adult art class at the YWCA.

Her work has been hung in one woman shows in Albany, and in Troy, New York, and at the Cape Cod Art Association at Hyannisport in juried shows. She is represented in many private collections in upstate New York, Virginia, Philadelphia and in the permanent collection of the Pennsylvania Historical Society.

The Present Day Club is open weekdays from 9 to 5. The Chairman of the Art Committee, Mrs. Kenneth L. Maxwell, suggests that those wishing to view the exhibit should telephone the Club at 921-1014 to make sure that the schedule is clear at a particular hour.

and staff. They could not easily be replaced by a new President. Would we be comfortable with a Cabinet and staff comprised largely of the people who are running McGovern's campaign and counseling him on foreign affairs and economic and social issues?

McGovern's qualifications:

1. The Eagleton incident raises serious question as to McGovern's judgment in crises and his wisdom and care in selecting his team. His proposal of Congressman Wilbur Mills as his Secretary of Treasury without having discussed the matter with Mills is not reassuring, to say the least.

2. His waffling indecision on his welfare and tax programs, among others, makes one wonder whether he has the economic background, or the ability to enlist expert counsel, required for a President.

3. His economic proposals, his apparent distrust of the American business community and his attempt to set class against class indicate not only a lack of enthusiasm for our free enterprise system but also a desire to be President of only part of the people. Does this philosophy qualify him to be President of all of the people of the United States?

In my opinion, the records and qualifications of the candidates dictate a clear choice: Reelect President Nixon.

Democrat

Under his leadership I for see no undermining but rather the possibility of rejuvenation and reform of many of our most essential institutions, among them those of government and education. That many of these institutions could benefit from adjustments to bring them up to date and make them better able to cope with the enormous complexity and pressures of today's demands seems to me to be beyond question.

Ending American military involvement in Indochina remains the most pressing concern. I admire Senator McGovern's early perception of the tragic arrogance and wrongness of American policy in Vietnam, and I attach urgent importance to his pledge to end the American military involvement there promptly.

I cannot accept the withdrawal of American ground forces as equivalent to the end of the War, as the Nixon Administration appears to wish us to believe—not when thousands of pounds of American bombs and shells daily take countless lives there, add to the devastation of large portions of the land, are main prop to a corrupt, autocratic regime, and continue to divert vast sums of money and of energy from pressing domestic concerns.

As with the Vietnam War, education, and so many other matters of public moment—civil liberties, employment, the cities, and equal opportunity—the Administration appears to have acted with less than whole heart, with an eye more to the manipulation of power than with a vital concern for the best ideals of the American people. When Senator McGovern calls us home to those ideals, I respect his integrity and I welcome his call.

BID 'N' BUY SATURDAY

Gala Day in Rocky Hill. The annual fair and auction held in Rocky Hill will take place Saturday from 10 to 5 on the baseball field on Washington Road. This fund raising event benefits the Rocky Hill Community Group, which maintains a center in a pre-Revolutionary house on Washington Road where a branch of the Somerset County Public Library functions.

The all-day auction and the numerous booths are held under tents, so the fair proceeds regardless of the weather. There will be booths of handicrafts, food, garden, books, white elephant and Rocky Hill aprons for both men and women.

Joanna Fiori will be selling her Montana Pots again this year. Florence Taylor, who is well-known for her portrait work, will spend the day doing pastel portrait sketches.

The oldest band in New Jersey, the Blawenburg Band, plus a Rock Band, will add to the festivities. A refreshment booth will offer Italian meat ball sandwiches, hot dogs, sandwiches, pickled eggs, soda and coffee will be available throughout the day. The Rocky Hill First Aid and Rescue Squad will demonstrate apparatus and techniques, and the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Company will provide cotton hayride. In addition to a hay ride, children will enjoy free relay races with prizes, games of skill, penny candy, craft activities, and a selection of treasures at the White Elephant Table for Wet Ones.

phant Table for Wet Ones.

Boat, Pool Table Offered. An historic Rocky Hill slide show, including pictures from the Princeton Historical Society, will be continuous throughout the day. At 11, a fully rigged Sailfish will be auctioned. Other items include pool table, a canoe, an upright piano, skis, dark room equipment, and a duplicate bridge set. There are innumerable collector's items including a Civil War sword, an antique ivory fan, Clouson ne spice jars, ginger jars, and brass Lennox and Bieleck demitasse sets; plus several exquisite groupings of silver, china, and crystal.

A new attraction this year is the Silent Auction. Come and put your bids on some of the many fascinating services available on October 7. Each service will be described in detail on individual cards. To make a bid, just put your name and the amount on the card.

If the high bidders are not present when the bidding closes, they will be contacted.

Some of the items you may bid on: experienced bartender and waiter for a party; air plane ride for two; truckload of fireworks; photographs of your children; two Princeton football tickets on the 50 yard line; a room painted; an historic tour of Rocky Hill; tour of Lake Carnegie by water, an evening of ice skating, an evening of piano music; a room wallpapered; lubrication for your car; two hours of rototilling; your piano tuned; use of a canoe; use of a heated pool.

You may learn by bidding on lessons in chess, French, Spanish, English, tennis, piano, sailing, sandcasting, sewing, crocheting, copper enameling, and flower drying.

RACE AND EDUCATION

New YWCA Series "Equal Opportunity for Education" will be the theme for the new series of luncheon programs on race, sponsored by the Committee to Combat Racism of the Princeton YWCA.

Henry Drowry, Princeton educator, will launch the series this Thursday at 12:30 with a talk on "Housing and Equality in Education." Luncheon will be served at a cost of $1.50. A nursery service will be available.

Mr. Drowry is a professor at Princeton University and director of the University's Office of Teacher Preparation and Placement. He was formerly head of the history department at Princeton High School.

Subsequent talks in the race series will be "Developmental Learning" (November 21) and "The Tax Structure and Equal Opportunity in Education" (December 8).

BUILD THAT BODY

With Judo, Massage, Two new activities for women will begin next Tuesday at the Princeton YWCA. Massage and judo are the new fall offerings.

Special judo classes for women only, will be held Tuesdays from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. under the direction of the Rev. Sam Park. The fee for eight weeks is $15.

The Rev. Mr. Park, a student at Princeton Theological Seminary, is a third-degree black belt instructor for Judo Yawara. Before coming to Princeton from his native Korea, the Rev. Mr. Park taught Judo Yawara to Peace Corps men and women stationed in Korea.

Massage as a way of reducing tension and relieving stress, will be offered by the YWCA by appointment (call 924-4825), starting October 10.

Masseuses are Helen MacNamara, a licensed practical nurse with training in physical therapy, Ingeborg Fenik, a graduate of the Physical Therapy School of the Heidelberg (Germany) Orthopedic Rehabilitation Center and Pat Hubley, graduate of the De La Salle School of Massage.

FUND DRIVE BEGUN

By First Aid Squad. One of the most vital service agencies in Princeton, the First Aid and Rescue Squad has begun its annual fund drive.

In 1971 the Squad took care of a total of 1019 calls, of which 675 were emergencies. 310 were for hospital ambulance service and 34 of a miscellaneous nature. The Rescue Squad equipment covered a total of 13,826 miles in the Princeton area and expended a total of 3,519 volunteer man hours. The volunteer organization has been serving the people of Princeton and surrounding communities for over 43 years.

To maintain 24 hour operations and specialized equipment, the squad has an urgent need for community support.

Their annual fund drive is the only time during the year that funds are solicited. Contributions insure that the emergency help will be there when needed. Most contributions may be sent to P.O. Box 529 Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

TWO EVENTS PLANNED

By Soul Club. The Soul Club, a teenage organization sponsored by the YWCA and the Youth Center, will hold two affairs on October 7 and 8.

RECREATION APPROVED

For Queenston Common, The Borough Zoning Board last week granted a conditional use authorization to Queenston Common, the condominium under construction on Harrison Street and Hamilton Avenue, to use a .66 acre lot, which is a part of the entire tract, for recreational purposes.

Attorney William C. Baggett told the board that the area would include a 30x60-foot swimming pool, tennis court, putting green and play area. It would serve only the condominium's 76 families and their guests, he said.

He added that the recreation plan approval (subject to zoning board approval) and that such a facility was a permitted accessory use in an R3 district. "We feel it fills out our entire project," he said.

The pool will be surrounded by a six-foot fence and the tennis court by 10-foot chain-link fence. Mr. Baggett told the board there would be no outdoor lighting.

Miss Dorothy Wagner, 20 Scott Lane, one of the street residents that border the condominium, told the board that she was concerned about noise from the swimming pool. "Experience tells us that in one swims in silence," she said. She also asked Mr. Baggett, "What guarantee do we have that there will be no lights next year?" The board stipulated in its approval that there be no lighting except for safety and that any safety lights be subject to approval of the Borough engineer.

Yes to Tennis Foundation
The board, in another application made a favorable recommendation to Mayor and Council that the Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton be allowed to use the former Red Cross building at 71 University Place as office space. Included is the waiver of one off-street parking space.

Mrs. Eve Kraft, an officer of the Foundation, said that three to four part-time staff and volunteers would use the building to conduct paper work that is now done in her home. A.C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for the Foundation, told the board that it appears there are not many uses for this type building which he said was surrounded by Princeton University properties.

The present parking area in front will be used for three cars. To make room, the University will remove a low concrete abutment in front of the building, Mr. Hicks stated.

In another case, Harry Kellian was granted a minor adjustment under the special exception section of the ordinance to allow him to add an addition to his home at 94 Loudon Lane.

BUS TOURS OFFERED

The Historical Society, Three outstanding houses in Fairmount Park on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia will be the subject of the first fall tour planned by the Historical Society of Princeton for Tuesday, October 10.

Open to the public, the trips are $10, payable one week in advance. The fee includes transportation, a box lunch, admission to all houses and a $5 tax deductible donation. The bus will leave at 9:00 a.m. from the American end of the Shopping Center and return before 5

The three houses in the word of the late, noted architectural historian, Fiske Kimball, illustrate the evolution of American Art from the time of William Penn until the nineteenth century. In several cases these houses are the very finest of their respective periods and types.

Administered by the Philadelphia Museum of Art, these are furnished with magnificent antiques. Mount Pleasant, built in 1762 is reputed to be one of the finest Georgian houses with outstanding interior wood carving and Chippendale antiques.

Woodford is another outstanding example of early Georgian Architecture, continued by the excellence of its extensive furnishings. The Federal period will be seen in Lemon Hill, which is known for its curved south facade and three oval rooms.

Future trips will be to Ringwood Manor and Skylands, N.J., October 17, and Winterthur Museum, October 24. For reservations for October 10 call the Historical Society at 924-6419.

SCHEDULES CHANGE

For Rocky Hill, Princeton Libraries, The Rocky Hill Library has announced its winter hours as follows: Monday through Friday, 9:30 - 5 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 10 Noon; Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7 - 9 p.m.

The free library is open to all residents of Rocky Hill and Montgomery Township. It is located at the Community House on Washington Street. A story hour for children will start in October.

Beginning this Sunday, the Princeton Public Library will resume Sunday service, with all public service departments open from 1 to 5:30 p.m. The schedule will remain in effect until Sunday, December 17.

What's In The Attic?

Ice skates, from some prehistoric ice age, dresses that were great in 1963, china you never liked any way — the YWCA wants cast-offs for its Treasure Market.

The Market itself will be held November 4 but the YWCA hopes householders will start now in rummage in attics. Contributions will be picked up by "Y" volunteers if the contributor calls 924-1825 or 924-2379.

Mrs. William E. Stewardson is chairman of the Market. She has arranged with members of the Friday Club and the Novembers Club, both YWCA affiliates, to hold a bake sale during the Market. A snack bar will be open from 11 to 1.

Proceeds will benefit the Bates Scholarship Fund, established in memory of Pearl Bates to provide financial assistance for women and girls who want to take part in any of the YWCA's activities.

DEAN CHACE AND HIS FAMILY LIKE PRINCETON AS MUCH AS YOU!

THAT'S WHY DEAN IS YOUR REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE AGAIN.

Dean Chace has been a member of Princeton Township Committee since 1970 and is presently our Deputy Mayor. He has served the community in several other important capacities, too — as Chairman of the Princeton Joint Recreation Board, on the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, on the United Fund, to list a few.

That's a lot of time and energy for a man with an active, close-knit family and a full-time demanding career. Why does he do it? Because Dean and his family have lived in Princeton for 15 years and they think it's a great place to live. Dean has tried to do whatever he can to make Princeton even better.

Dean's running mate, John Kuser, feels very much the same way. Between now and Election Day, Dean and John want to meet you and all their neighbors, to hear your views, answer your questions. Meet them. Talk with them. Vote for them.

You can meet Dean and John on these dates:

On Oct. 5th — "By a Pretty Pool"

78 Magnolia Lane at 3:30 P.M.

On Oct. 8th — At an "A-Political Party"

134 Leabrook Lane at 2:00 P.M.

On Oct. 10th — At an "Evening Coffee"

How's this for a football oddity . . . Did you know there was once a college football game in which one team did not run or pass the ball at any time during the entire game, and still won it? . . . It happened to Kentucky . . . in a game in the early 1900's. Kentucky decided to kick on first down every time they got the ball . . . They did kick on first down throughout the game . . . They never ran the ball and never passed . . . And they won 12-6 by recovering two fumbles by their opponents in the end zone! . . . This oddity is hard to believe but it's been verified by the Kentucky Athletic Department.

Ever wonder how many commercials there are during the telecast of college or professional games? . . . How many would you say? . . . The national TV networks put in a total of 18 one-minute commercials during the telecast of each game.

Tigers Delight with Rutgers Upset But Columbia Will Be Tougher

Princeton's football team, victor over Rutgers in a game that few of its most enthusiastic backers thought it could win, opens the Ivy League season Saturday at 2 in Palmer Stadium against Columbia.

While the contest figures to be far closer than it did before, the Tigers showed the blend of eagerness and opportunism which won for them last week, they will come to grips with a combination that is extremely difficult to conquer: a strong opponent which believes that a championship it has never won outright is finally within reach. Its shifts set firmly on the Ivy title for which it has only tied (in 1961) during 16 years of Irontal league action, Columbia will by no means fall prey to the over confidence that was a part of Rutgers' undoing last Saturday.

Architect of the rebuilding job on Morningside Heights is Frank Navarro, the tense, articulate young coach who says flatly that in Don Jackson he has the best college quarter

QUICK LOOK AT COLUMBIA

OFFENSE: As good as any among the Ivies, paced by line quarterbacking and passing of Don Jackson.

DEFENSE: A shade inexperienced up front but linebacking corps led by Paul Vallette, an All-American prospect, makes Lions solid here, too.

CHIEF ASSET: All-around balance blended with firm belief that this is Columbia's year for Ivy title.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Depth lacking in both lines, a factor that may hurt against tougher Ivy teams.

back in the nation. While he does not complete half his passes, he hits for numerous long-gainers and with 22 TDs to his credit, figures to break the existing Columbia record of 29 before the season ends.

At a college where passing quarterbacks have been the principal asset for three decades, this is no mean feat.

It was largely Jackson who engineered the Lions' 22-20 triumph over Princeton a year ago first over the Orange and Black since 1945. He connected on 13 of 18 attempts for 233 yards and two touchdowns, and would dearly like to lead the way to Columbia's first back-to-back victories in the series since it began 98 years ago.

Fine receivers, Princeton's problem in stopping Jackson is compounded by the fact that he will have one of the top receivers in the east in split end Jesse Parks, who may well join Archie Roberts and Ed Marinaro as the only three-time All-Ivy selections. Parks, who has fine hands and moves to match, has as his running mate at tight end Mike Telep, a 6-4, 225-lb. sophomore.

Columbia's strength in the past two seasons stems from the fact that, contrary to other years when all the Lions could do was throw, several capable ball carriers are available. Steve Howland, George Georges and Tom Hurley provide the speed, while Rick Asaf earns Navarro's tag as "the best fullback in the league."

THE FULLBACK'S GRIP: Howie Baetjer (34) glues ball to his chest as he twists and spins final two yards into end zone for touchdown that gave Princeton 7-6 upset victory over Rutgers.

Columbia's defense, figured to be stronger than it was a year ago, is headed by the backer Paul Kalahades, a 230 lb. pro prospect. To Hank Bjorklund, he was "the toughest opponent I have ever had to face," and the Tiger offense will frequently be overmatched in trying to clear him out for its ball carriers.

Kalahades' line gives the New Yorkers an added weapon Princeton cannot come close to matching. He bouted five of marked ten minutes before the kickoff that, "Of all the times I've been here, this is the first when I have felt confident about the outcome."

Most Princetonians, on the other hand, were merely hoping for a respectable showing—one that, even in defeat, might offer hope for the future. The 7-6 victory for Princeton was, accordingly, wholly unexpected by virtually everyone and ranked as an even greater upset than Rutgers' 33-18 pasting of the favored Princetonians a year ago.

Of the many factors that played a part in the result, two were paramount:

- The steadily increasing ability of Princeton's veteran offensive line to move the Scarlet's defensive unit back, paving the way for the clock-eating 15-play, 54-yard touchdown drive that decided matters late in the final quarter.

- The virtually total clamp that Princeton's largely inexperienced secondary put on the passing of Rutgers' quarterback Leo Gasenica, who added to his woes by continually undershooting his receivers. From a 30-for-50 performance with two interceptions in his first two games, Gasenica dropped to two for eight, and threw more interceptions (three) than he did completions.

seven field goal attempts from sizeable distances last fall, three of them providing the margin of victory over Princeton, Rutgers and Dartmouth.

The Lions wallowed Fordham in the rain Saturday, but the 44-0 score in the patent mis match could not have been of much value as an opener. Even in the face of weak opposition, however, it was apparent that they have high-scoring potential that should overcome mild defensive problems in most of their games this fall.

A Backward Statistical Look

Were you, by any chance, in Palmer Stadium on October 6, 1945? If you were, and if you've seen most Princeton home football games since then, you may recall that day as the last rainy opener for the Tigers until Saturday's soggy set to with Rutgers.

The score that day, incidentally, was 7-7, against Lafayette. It was the first Princeton team that Charlie Caldwell ever coached.

A 7-6 victory for the Tigers to open the season isn't without precedent, but the last was recorded in 1940 when the Orange and Black edged Vanderbilt by that score. And in more than a century of Princeton football, there has been only one other 7-6 score on opening day, against Penn. in 1935.

Following the statistical trail a bit further, the last time Princeton got the odd point in 13 was on October 5, 1963 against Columbia at Baker Field. The Lions had a chance to win that day, but went for two on the conversion and Archie Roberts missed on a keeper.

Rutgers, which had figured to win here, was also a one-point victim as the favorite in Palmer Stadium just five years ago. That wasn't 7-6, but 22-21.

As was the case last week, Princeton scored with the clock running out, but still trailed, 21-20. A fingertip grab of a pass into the end zone by Bob Weber brought the two-point conversion.

occasionally grow damper during the first half, Rutgers dominated the action at the outset but failed to control the game as it progressed. After sunset more Jim Stephens picked off a Gasmen pass on the Princeton 9 to smother an early Rutgers threat. The visitors launched a drive on their own 34 and went the distance in a dozen plays.

They did so with relative ease, and when John Penn's

11-yard conversion was blocked, there was no reason to believe that the upstart hand Barry Richardson had gotten on the ball for Princeton would determine the outcome of the game. Penn later had a 37-yard attempt at a field goal but hurtled his motion after the first kick had been blocked, and this one went under the crossbar.

Delighted that they had gotten into the dressing room at 5:30 time in only by a mere 5 points, in contrast to the 27 lead that Rutgers held at 11 intermissions a year ago, the Tigers decided this ball game could be theirs. The aborted field goal attempt mid-way through the third period was the visitors' last shot at a score, and in the decisive fourth quarter, Princeton got the ball in action 30 times to just nine for the losers.

Fifteen of those plays saw quarterback Jim Flynn direct an attack that blended two for two passing (good for 30 yards) with possession-type ground plays, only two of which gained as much as five yards. Romeo Perkins, Duke Lilly, Flynn and Hoosier Bartler were the ball carriers, with Bartler, the fullback replacement for the injured Bob Harding, the standout.

It was Bartler who spun over from the two behind solid blocking from the tight side of the line (Bill Brown, Jeff Bart and Bill Cronin). John Bariges popped the placement accurately, and with 36 seconds left, Rutgers' last chance for anything meaningful was erased by the third interception Princeton perpetrated.

Jake McCandless equaled to victory with the 1969 upset of Dartmouth that meant a tie for the Ivy title. While both teams on the field that day were markedly superior to those involved Saturday, the likelihood of a Princeton victory was even less last weekend than it was in the game McCandless sang'd out.

Princeton's immediate problem is that Rutgers appears to have been slightly overrated and largely overconfident. This, by no means to belittle the Tigers' achievement (it ranks as one of their most deserved upsets in many years), but rather to say that Columbia will be far more difficult to beat this weekend.

The return of All-Ivy Joe Pennino, the line-backer ruled ineligible for the Rutgers game but cleared by faculty action Monday, will give added length to the defense. Flynn's quarterbacking was measurably improved over that of last year, Perkins, Lilly and Harding particularly the latter should contribute increasingly as ball carriers, but in the

LITTLE TIGERS DO IT

Defeat Ewing, 14-12. The Princeton High School football team plays St. Anthony's next, but that will have to come later. The good news can't wait.

The Little Tigers defeated visiting Ewing Saturday morning, 14-12, to end a victory drought that stretches back into the 1970 season. With 9:30 the space of six minutes in the second quarter, Greg Kline tossed two scoring bombs, one to Richard Warfield for 63 yards and another to Dane Black for 58. Ned Fry kicked both extra points to provide the winning margin.

Then when Ewing threatened to score in the waning minutes, and snatch victory from the Blue and White, the defense pushed the Blue Devils back. It was a team effort: the savor of victory exhilarating. The ecstatic PHS bench was enough to gladden the heart of any long-time PHS follower.

Now that the albatross of continuous defeat has fallen from its neck, PHS can turn its attention to St. Anthony's minus any uptight feelings. The two teams will play Saturday morning at 11 on the St. Anthony field. It is the first time they have met on the gridiron.

St. Anthony's 2-0. Comparative scores against Ewing indicate that the two will end up in a tie. St. Anthony's defeated Ewing in its opener two weeks ago by the same 14-12 score. Last week, the Iron Mike's blanked winless Trenton, 21-0. St. Anthony's is basically a running team. Fullback Mark Stillitano is the big gun. Against Trenton he rushed for 128 yards. In two games this season he has averaged over 10 yards in 25 carries. Halfback Leon Lackey is a constant threat with his speed. The track star scored one of Cathedral's TDs on a 21-yard scamper.

"I think it will be an even match," said PHS coach Dick Wood of the game.

Four Big Plays. The PHS Ewing game can be capsuled into four big plays — two by each team. Three of them came within a few minutes of each other in the second period. Fullback Francis Hearn, who was to rush for 132 of Ewing's 142 yards on the ground, put Ewing on the scoreboard first. At the 6:59 mark he raced up the middle of the PHS line and outran safetyman Greg Kline to the goal for a 51-yard scoring thrust. The attempted PAT kick was partially blocked and wide.

A few plays later, Tom Karmack of Ewing who was in the PHS backfield all morning threw Kline for a 13-yard loss. PHS had the ball, third and 18 on its own 32. With rain falling and the field muddy, the prospect was far from promising.

It was here that Kline, who played the entire game, joined the Blue Devils. He hit Warfield cutting across the middle and the 143-pound end did the rest by shaking away from two tacklers to go all the way. It was the first big play for PHS in a long, long time.

After PHS forced Ewing to punt, it soon found itself faced with a third and seven situation on its own 42. Kline tried the same pass pattern in Warfield. The ball was low or PHS would have had its second TD. As it was, it got it on the very next play. Discarding a punt, Kline on fourth down passed to Dane Clark who took the ball over the outstretched arms of defender Joe Dylon. A perfect strike.

It made a prophet out of Wood who had said before the season started that PHS would gamble this year and go for the TD — fourth down or not. This particular play, he said, had been called by his spotter in the stands, freshman coach Marc Anderson.

Hearn, again, provided the game's fourth big play. With 9:41 to go, he gathered in a John Gianacaci punt around his own 28 and raced down the sidelines to bring Ewing within two. Ewing tried for the two-point conversion but quarterback Mike Jones was stopped near the sidelines by David Harwood. In desperation he lateraled the ball but there was no one behind him to catch it.

Defense Comes Through

Now it was up to the defense. Ewing was soon knocking again when Jones passed to Mike Wilson who carried the ball to the PHS 11 where he was hit from behind and fumbled. Frank Caponi recovered for PHS.

PHS was still not home free, however. With 3:50 to go, Wilson returned Gianacaci's sixth punt. It was short to the PHS 31. Bill Alexander, Wes McLean and Jack Bayer combined to stop Ewing twice, but Hearn got 10 yards in two carries and a first down on the 20.

On the next play, however, Alexander and John Rossi led a host of PHS tacklers that threw Jones, trying to pass for a 25-yard loss back to the

ON END OF BOMB: Outside end Richard Warfield is only 5-7 but he stood very tall Saturday when he and quarterback Greg Kline combined for a 76-yard touchdown to put the PHS eleven in front in second quarter.

45. Jones completed one pass and then had another almost intercepted by Harwood. On fourth and 17, Bob Zinsmeister leaped high to intercept Jones' final pass. The PHS bench erupted.

Kline, despite the poor playing conditions, threw 14 punts and completed six. More importantly, he seemed to be throwing with greater confidence than he had in the opening loss to Hamilton. Black, who plays both ways, was credited by Wood with an "exceptional game" on offense.

Wood faulted the blocking but added that part of the problem was the absence of guard Gianecari, sidelined with a separated shoulder, and Frank Boyer, out with a fever. In the place of Wood used Rich and Guzy, who had never played the position before, and Bob Drummond.

Bill Alexander, 6-1, 220, played an outstanding game on defense. Others: Caputo, Harwood, McLean, and Boyer.

BIG PREP GAME SATURDAY

Hun Glads for Pennington. A prep school contest of more than considerable interest here will take place Saturday when Hun School (11) takes on the visiting and unbeaten Red Raiders from Pennington. Kickoff at the Hun field is 2 p.m.

Hun defeated a punchless Admiral Farragut team, 12-0, last week for its first win of the season in the running of halfbacks Greg Rafalski and John Loughlin. Pennington, 8-0, conqueror of Pennsylvania School for the Deaf in its last outing, has now won ten in a row and is the defending Penn Jersey League champion.

Last year, before a homecoming crowd, Pennington defeated Hun, 24 to 7, for its first victory over the Red and Black since 1962. It was the big win for Pennington and it went on to finish its season undefeated.

It will be parents' weekend at Hun on Saturday and Hun coach Dave Leece and his squad will be striving to turn

PHS Alumnus Chris Gartner Sets Field Goal Mark

Chris Gartner, former Princeton High School kicking specialist, who last year as a junior at Indiana broke the old Hoosier field goal mark of three in one game when he kicked four of 32, 47, 37, and 39 yards, has set a new field goal record.

Against Kentucky Saturday, Gartner booted a field goal of 51 yards to break the old mark for distance. Before the game was over, he had kicked another one for 52 yards and another record. Indiana won, 35-34.

Gartner, whose record four field goals also came against Kentucky, earned Mercer County honors in both his junior and senior years at PHS as a kicking specialist. As a senior in 1968, he was named in the Delaware Valley all-area second team.

the table on its rival. It will be a tough game, Leece guff anteled, but off the win over Farragut, he said, "I hope we're on our way."

Sailors Never Leave Port. Hun completely dominated its contest with the Future Admirals in Toms River Saturday, rolling up 162 total yards (140 on the ground) to 20 for the home team. Farragut gained only one first down and that came in the final period when Hun was detected off-side on a Farragut punt.

Recovered fumbles set up both Hun scores. Midway in the second period, Rafalski recovered for Hun on the 35. He scored a few plays later from the one. The big play en route was a 22-yard aerial from quarterback John Videbeck to fullback Ed Geagles. Hun's only completed pass of the afternoon.

In the final period, Bill Mills fell on another Farragut fumble to set up John Loughlin's 16-yard scoring run up the middle. Loughlin had 59 yards in 13 carries, while Rafalski gained 86 rushing.

Defensively, Leece cited line-backer Mike and Rafalski, and tackles Ed Dilton and George Harper. "They all played a good defensive game," he said.

SEASON OPENS SUNDAY

For Midget Football, The Princeton Midget Football League opens its 1972 season next Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m., when Princeton Fuel Oil meets The Rug & Furniture Mart. The second game of the afternoon features Nassau Conover Motors and Princeton University Store.

Each team in the senior division will play six games during the season in a double round-robin schedule. Games will be played each Sunday afternoon at the Princeton High School Field.

Coaches of the senior division teams are Princeton Fuel Oil, Jim Spanos; Rug & Furniture Mart, John Budd; Nassau Conover Motors, Peter Budd; and Princeton University Store, Ray Wadsworth.

Admission to the games is free. League officials and the coaches hope that attendance this year will increase, as this

Night Football Friday

The first of three night football games scheduled for Princeton University teams will be played Friday at 7:30 on the field at the open end of Palmer Stadium near Jadwin Gymnasium. The opponents will be the 150 lb. teams of Cornell and Princeton.

A member of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, the Tigers will also face Army, Navy, Columbia, Penn and Rutgers during the year. The Penn game on October 20 will also be played at night.

A week later, the Princeton Varsity B Squad will face Navy here under the lights. There will be no admission charge for the games.

GOOD BREEZES HELP

To Bring Out Sailors. Bright fall sunshine and moderate breezes brought out a large number of sailors for the fourth Sunday of the Carnegie Sailing Club's fall series races.

With an impressive demonstration of skill, Bob Holzman took five firsts in six races to lead the Sunfish class. He was followed distantly by Ed Metcalf in second and Club Commodore Dick Hill in third.

Six close finishes in the 14 foot Sloop class left the three contenders separated by only .33 of a point at the end of the day, with Hector Poventud edging Paul Porter for first place in this class.

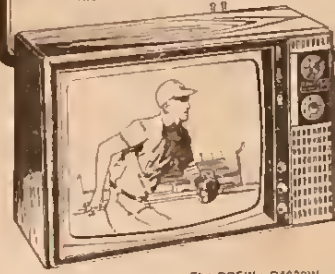

With the fall season one-third completed, Bob Holzman has forged into the cumulative low-point leadership in the Sunfish class, followed by Ed Metcalf in second and Princeton University students A. A. LaFountain and Chris Wilson in third and fourth. The closely-matched Sloops are led by Jim McPherson, with Paul Porter and Hector Poventud in second and third.

PDS SEEKS THIRD WIN Against Morristown Prep.
An old nemesis will face the Princeton Day football team this Friday as the Panthers go after their third straight victory of the season. Morristown Prep, a team the Blue and White has never beaten, will play host to PDS beginning at 3:30.

Currently 0-2, with losses to Pennington and Pope John of Sparta, Morristown does not have one of its better teams this year. Coach George Conway reports that only 18 boys came out for football this fall.

MARTIN SCORES FOR POS: Princeton Day fullback Bill Martin (No. 44) slams through the middle of the Croydon Hall line for a touchdown Friday. PDS won the contest in a romp, 32-0 with Markin scoring three times.

making it necessary for most to go both ways. This will give the Panthers an edge on depth at least, Conway pointed out.

However, PDS will very probably be without the service of two-way tackle and en-captain Roger Williams, who twisted his left knee in the 32-0 rout of Croydon Hall. He is expected back in two weeks for the game against Trinity, but his offensive blocking will be sorely missed.

"We have a psychological advantage over them, being 2-0, while they are 0-2," Conway commented. "I think we can beat them if we play up to our full potential."

Croydon Hall Weak. There's not much question that Morristown will give a considerably stronger showing even with 18 boys, than Croydon Hall was able to muster last Friday in the rain.

The untired visitors, in their first football game after little practice, found themselves out of it, for all intents and purposes, on PDS's first play from scrimmage. From there two other first quarter scores ended what little doubt may have remained.

The defense held Croydon after the opening kick-off, and, following a punt, took the ball on its own 40. On the first play, 205-pound freshman Bill Martin went off tackle for 60 yards and a touchdown. Dave Wagenseil's placement attempt failed.

The Panther defense contributed its weekly points right after the kickoff. With third down and long yardage, Croydon Hall passed Williams tipped the ball into the hands of linebacker Doug Robinson who went into the end zone from 30 yards out. The kick was blocked and the score was 12-0 with only five minutes gone.

Thomas Scores on Pass. The PDS defense forced Croydon Hall to punt again following the kickoff, and the Panther offense took over on its own pass to receiver Keith Thomas, who stepped in for the score. Wagenseil's kick made it 19-0 at the quarter. The Blue and White scored only once in the second quarter on a time-consuming 10-play series that began on its own 35. Martin plunged over from the one-foot line for his second touchdown. It was 25-0 at the half.

The second half began like the first, with a quick PDS score. The Panthers took the opening kick-off and moved from their 45-yard line in five plays for the TD. Tim Hamid went over from the three and Wagenseil added the extra point.

Coach George Conway substituted the second unit going into the fourth period, and Croydon Hall made its only move of the day, driving from its 45 to the PDS five. There the Panther seconds held, took over, and moved to midfield.

The defense, getting stronger with every game, had its standouts, Conway singled out Robinson, Co-captain Williams and Frank Konstantynowicz at safety. Croydon Hall ran out of a "cockeyed single wing," and Conway was pleased at the way the defense adapted to it. The Panthers' passing attack also came alive a bit.

PDS SOCCER WINS TWO Aims For State Title Again.
Princeton Day School's varsity soccer team opened its defense of its state prep title with a pair of shut-out wins last week, squeaking by Wardlaw, 1-0, on Tuesday, then defeating Moorestown Friends on Friday, 2-0.

Dave Straut, playing right inside, scored the only goal in Tuesday's contest, then shifted to left inside and got the first goal against Moorestown.

Dunc Martin, moved to Straut's old slot, scored the other PDS goal in Friday's contest. Both came in the first period.

BUSINESS In Princeton

MISS MAAS RETIRES

Sells Candy Shop. Miss Louise Maas sold her Palmer Square candy shop this week to Mrs. Polly K Way Lyons and officially retired. She will be 78 in January.

Her candy store, which she opened 16 years ago when she retired as a New York social worker, has been a Mecca for candy lovers. "Louise boxes," featuring her assortment of fine candies, have been milled near and far.

Miss Maas was hospitalized four months ago, for which I have received over 400 cards and letters, telephone calls, flowers and gifts," she said in wonder the other day. "In four months that I've been sick, I think there have been only three days without any mail. I've tried to keep up with it, but I hope TOWN TOPICS will help me tell everyone how appreciative I am."

Her illness, she said, has been diagnosed as cancer, and she has moved in with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Marshall of Harborton Woodville Road, Pennington.

Fortright and as crisp as her favorite butter crunch, Miss Maas speaks of her customers with aureole affection. "The satisfaction of trying to give people what they wanted has meant a lot to me. I gave out recipes, I helped with parties, and I knew the children. I bought the best candy I could buy and I think the customers got good service. I've always worked for the public."

A native of this area, Miss Maas investigated Charleston and Cape Cod before she decided to come back home. She wanted a one-man shop and ran an advertisement in the paper. Next thing she knew she had bought the candy shop at 52 Nassau Street from Ron Wick's, then next door.

"I went in the red the first couple of years," she recalls. Soon her narrow little shop, a glorified telephone booth, a Princeton professor called it, was constantly overcrowded and it was to the relief of all when the shop was moved to larger quarters in Palmer Square six years ago.

"You know, I've had four or five people tell me they wanted to buy the shop," Miss Maas smiled. Polly Lyons asked me a couple of years ago. She's a physicist at Texile Research Institute. She has been in there at the holidays and helped out. She knows a lot about the shop."

Miss Maas, now deep in the country, pointed out through the picture windows the tall old trees and a scattering of birdfeeder stations, including a new one shaped like a satellite. "I've always liked the outdoors," she said.

"I used to play golf. I love to hike." Right now she is reading a lot, the current book being "800 Million: The Real China," by Ross Terrill.

She turns again and again in her conversation to the letters and cards and flowers. "How can I possibly, possibly thank everyone enough..."

WOMEN ALERTED

To Professional Roster. The Professional Roster, having completed a successful summer, is gearing up for this fall's job situation. Founded in 1968, the Roster serves as a clearing house of job information for employers and women seeking positions on the professional level.

During the summer, the Professional Roster stayed open, manned by 17 volunteers. A total of 49 job opportunities were received. Currently, there's a call out for a female research statistician with a doctorate in pharmacy. The salary starts at $17,000.

The Roster is a non-profit organization and requires no job fee. The office, on the second floor of Stevenson Hall, 83 Prospect Avenue, is open from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., with Mrs. Carolyn Wilson in charge of the volunteer staff.

More than half of the women registered hold more than one advanced degree. Many have worked on a national and international basis and are available full time, part time, short day, short week and free lance. The Roster and employers frequently arrange to have two part time people work together as a professional team to meet the needs of a full time job.

There are Roster members who are fluent in languages (often more than one) and who are also skilled in fields as diverse as city planning, graphic design, photography, chemistry and psychiatric case work. Registrants include women skilled in project management, advertising, fund raising, nutrition, regional called back against the Quakers as they outshot the opposition, 27-9. Fullbacks David Barach and Mike Stix cut off most Moorestown attacks at midfield, and of nine saves, co-captain Buzz Woodworth took six on rollbacks from Barach.

Toughest save of the day was Woodworth's spectacular stop of a Moorestown penalty kick from 10 yards out on the wet field.

PDS travels to Morristown-Beard Wednesday, then will seek to avenge last year's only defeat in 13 games as it hosts Rutgers Prep Friday.

IT'S ETS AGAIN

Wins PHS. Third Time. Apparently on its way toward building a dynasty like that enjoyed by the old Yankee teams, Educational Testing Service has won the Princeton Business Softball League championship for the third consecutive year.

As the first team to win the championship three times, ETS reuses the TOWN TOPICS trophy, given a decade ago. Three teams, RCA A, Accelerator and McGraw Hill had won it twice. ETS defeated McGraw Hill in the final game 17-5.

HAC LOSES THIRD

Ivy Falls Second Time. Like the Philadelphia Eagles, the Harrison Athletic Club is finding it tough to win a game this season. Both clubs are 0-3 to date.

HAC lost to Three Seasons, 28-20, last Sunday in a see-saw battle. Dennis Ringle and John Clagburn combined for a 50-yard screen pass for HAC's first score, and on an 18-yard pass play for the final score.

In between Ringle hit Doug Hoffman with a three-yard toss. He also connected for one two-point conversion with a pass to Ryan Donaldson.

Ivy Inn dropped to a 1-2 mark as it lost to J.C.'s, 16-8. Quarterback Charlie Tatum passed to Mike Maguire for the score, and to Bill Barolino for the two-point conversion.

In other games, Joe & Leona's host Old Smugglers, 14-0, and Canfield's shipped Mot AC, 28-6. In games this week Ivy will face Three Seasons at Lawrence High and HAC will meet Old Smugglers at Princeton. Both games begin at 10:45.

IT'S PADDLE TIME

Leagues Being Formed. The Princeton Recreation Department is currently formulating three paddle tennis leagues for this winter. All matches will take place on the paddle courts located at Community Park next to the pool complex.

Ladies league will have matches scheduled from 9:30-12:30 Monday-Friday. Those interested in participating should call Mrs. Sally Wainoch at 921-6269.

The complex league will run from 3:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. on Sunday evenings and 6:30-10:30 p.m. on Monday eve.

Hole In One Contest

The annual hole in one contest sponsored by the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130 will be held Sunday, October 15, from 10 to 6 at the Springdale practice range on lower Springdale Road. First prize is a choice of a color TV set or a set of clubs.

Tickets $1 for two shots — may be purchased from any Borough, Township or West Windsor policeman or at the contest. Profits are used by the PBA to sponsor youth activities such as baseball teams, boy scout troops and rifle safety.

OFF TO GOOD START: Mel Jones, new PHS head soccer coach, has his team off to one of its best starts in years. Little Tigers won two of their first three, including a 2-1 victory over Trenton High School. Jones, a 1968 graduate of Trenton State College who played fullback his junior and senior year, is being assisted by Lamont Fletcher.

For further information, call Mrs. Ingrid Harvey at 924-6147.

The mens league will be in operation on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 8 until 11 p.m. Rain dates will be made up on the following Thursdays. For further information, call the Princeton Recreation Department at 921-9480.

If you are interested in participating, your name and address should be given to those in charge before Thursday, October 26. All leagues are scheduled to begin the week of November 6.

The fee structure for paddle tennis is: complete reservation rights for the entire season, $12.50; Permit for league play only $5.

Permits may be obtained at the recreation office between 9 and 5 on weekdays. The recreation office is located on the second floor of Township Hall.

CROSS COUNTRY SPLITS

For 2-2 PHS Record. The Princeton High School cross country team was edged by Trenton Monday, 29-26, to even its record at 2-2. Last week the Little Tigers had trounced Hun, 16-49.

Against Trenton Peter Nichols of PHS was timed in 12:42 to finish second behind Trenton's Wayne Sneed who was clocked in 12:30. John Woodside and captain Mike Codin placed fourth and fifth for Princeton.

Friday, on the 2.1 mile PHS track against Hun, Nichols came in first with a time of 12:30 just four seconds over the PHS record set by Joe Bolster in 1970. PHS also swept the next three places: Coda (12:53), John Woodside (also timed in 12:53) and Mike Casserly (13:16).

CONTEST SPONSORED

By Nassau Savings: Nassau Savings is giving away 40 Early American Paint on Wood Sets for the 40 best entries in its second annual Tiger Coloring Contest.

All youngsters, 5 to 12 years of age are eligible to participate. Pictures of the Nassau Tiger can be obtained at Nassau Savings' offices at 194 Nassau Street, and at 41 Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. All the children have to do is color the Tiger.

The Association will select 20 winners in the 5 to 8 year old age group, and 20 winners in the 9 to 12 age group. Entries will be judged on the basis of neatness and originality, and are limited to one per child with the judges' decision final. The Contest closes midnight, October 20 with the winners being announced shortly thereafter.

DECORATING FIRM OPENS

"Drawing Room Designs," Drawing Room Designs, a custom interior decorating service, has opened offices at 759 State Road, next door to Mary Watts' store.

In charge is Kay Maestre, formerly associated with a Princeton furniture store for the past three years as a decorator. An art major graduate of Douglass College, she has an interior decorator certificate from the New York School of Interior Design.

Mrs. Maestre can offer a complete decorating service, from color schemes and floor plans to custom drapes, slipcovers and shopping service. "I like the idea of giving married people an overall plan so they shop effectively but at their own speed and within their own budget." Too often, she said, a couple will buy an attractive piece of furniture but when they get it home they find it many not "fit in."

REMODELING STARTS

At First National Bank. The latest in a continuing series of improvements in services and facilities at the 370 East Nassau Street office of the First National Bank is under way.

According to President John F. Hoff III, reconstruction of the exterior of the bank, including a completely new modern facade, and extensive renovation of the interior service area has been undertaken. "A new, large sheltered main entrance is being built on the side of the bank, to be more accessible to customers who use our many parking spaces," Hoff said. The entrance had previously been in front.

Interior renovations will emphasize convenience for customers who use the full range of banking services offered at the 370 East Nassau Street facility, he explained. Carpeting, natural wood paneling and other new materials were selected to add a feeling of warmth. The alterations were planned by Walker, Sander, Ford & Kerr, P.A., Princeton architects.

Earlier this year, the bank completed construction of additional drive-in facilities at the East Nassau office in response to steadily increasing use by drive-in customers. "We had occasion to celebrate in 1971 the 100,000th customer to use the drive-in service in just one year," Hoff said. "That's an extraordinary endorsement of the popularity of this facility."

A significant expansion in service at the East Nassau office was launched September 9 when Princeton's first Saturday banking hours were begun with full banking service each Saturday from 9 to noon. Similar hours for drive-in service are offered at First National's 40 Washington Road office in Princeton Junction.

"Our 370 East Nassau Street branch will mark its tenth anniversary on December 12, and we are pleased that over the past decade, we have been able to improve steadily the facilities and services at this office to keep pace with the increase in use by Princeton area families and businesses," Mr. Hoff said.

Completion of the exterior and interior renovation is expected in time for the tenth anniversary celebration in December. S. T. Peterson & Company are general contractors for the project.

3 FIRMS CITED HERE For Architectural Achievement. Three Princeton architectural firms were among the five cited last week for outstanding design achievement at the opening session of the annual convention of the New Jersey Society of Architects. Geddes Brecher Qualls Cunningham was cited for a class room, office building and central heating plant for Rutgers University at its Newark campus. It also received an honorable mention for Stockton State College, Pomona, Calif.

Also honored were Mahoney and Zroske for Ramapo College of New Jersey, Mahwah Township, and Umplian, for a new high school in Pennington Township.

The winning designs were chosen from among 102 entries.

The Rising Generation

About the Author: Amie Brockway founded Street Theatre in 1971, saw it grow from 35 kids to 90 in two summers. Now enrolled in the theatre arts program at the State University of New York, Mrs. Brockway has been in theatre all her life—acting, tech, directing, teaching—in community, church or college theatre. With her husband Ron (she received his M. Div. degree from the Seminary this June), she led youth groups for six years in an Ohio church. From August, 1969, until this summer, she was executive assistant at McCarter. The Brockways have two children, one a teen-ager.

JUST WATCH THESE KIDS- THEY'RE SOMETHING ELSE!

By Amie Brockway

"Will somebody please grab the other leg? And I need three strong bodies up there in the trailer — the rest of you be ready below. 1-2-3, up and over!"

This is my assistant, Liz Hilst, as she leads the Street Theatre stage crew in a set-up session prior to performance. Liz graduated from PHS in June and has spent the summer supervising the construction, maintenance, and operation of Street Theatre's mobile stage. Through the "Learn-by-Doing" method, she and her crew of 12-20 year-olds have become expert in the skills of pop rivetting, drilling, roofing, back sawing, painting, and leveling. They are able, barring complications, to unhitch, brace, unload, level, and completely unfold the mobile stage in an hour and 15 minutes.

However, because complications are not unusual, the crew is equally adept at coping with impossible situations: uneven ground, broken hinges, thunder storms, power failures, or a missing trailer. They have even learned to deal with the opening night jitters of an occasional temperamental director.

Street Theatre is made up of actors, directors, stage managers, playwrights, scenic designers, builders, and those who like to make posters, write news stories, balance budgets, make props and costumes, or provide sound and lighting effects—about 60 kids in all, plus another 30 who are involved only in morning workshops. They have to find ways to work together and get the shows to the people.

So, meanwhile, back at the church (Christ Congregation), the next production is in rehearsal: Deborah Bellow (age 19), my other assistant, is choreographing a dream ballet while her directing partner, Leigh Ruderman (a sophomore at PHS), gives notes on Act I.

"O.K., wait a minute. It needs to go slower after 'Pirates looking for buried treasure! Take it back... back to the beginning!'"

"That was much better, but try projecting more from the very start. We'll need to hear you over the music."

Directors have a thousand things to coordinate into the finished product: concept, rehearsal schedule, development of characters, blocking, pacing, transition from rehearsal hall to stage and set. There are personalities to deal with and insecurities. Some actors will need extra work outside of rehearsals. Design and concept must be coordinated. The realities of production deadlines will soon teach the director to handle very difficult situations. And each person on the director's team has his or her own set of responsibilities and deadlines.

One of our directors, K. G. Rawlhouse ("Trial by Fire") had the outstanding opportunity of working directly with the playwright of an original production this summer. A pair of Street Theatre playwrights, Steven Kolmes and Kevin Colman, had the experience of staging a production of their own work.

Our audiences are constantly amazed to see how hard the kids work, and how much of themselves they put into the productions.

"Look at her. Did she figure all that out herself? She certainly has a technical mind!"

Some simply cannot understand the degree of dedication they see.

"They must have worked awfully hard to build that thing. Why didn't you just buy one?"

But the kids have a real sense of having invested a large part of themselves in the mobile stage and in the summer season. And it truly belongs to them. A theatre project in the streets constantly produces problem-solving opportunities. Seldom does a day go by without a new "gotcha."

"Where are we going to get 2" bolts at this time of night?"

"If the trailer measures 10'6", can we get it through a 10'8" door? ... Better take the skylight off just to make sure."

"The power cord doesn't reach the source!"

"Who do we know with a very large garage?"

"Remember, no more than 50 amps of power at a time."

"Can't anyone in this town teach us how to silkscreen?"

"A dog knocked over the wheel!"

But the kids learn very quickly and the problems all get solved—or dealt with—or lived with.

"Now to turn this thing around... You, you, and you get in the front and shove and the rest on the side to push. The shovers start shoving first and then the pushers push; but the shovers keep shoving while the pushers push. And that ought to do it."

I'm convinced that it will.

THE WOODS ARE LOVELY

Pine Knoll is a unique area in Lawrence Township.
The homes are exceptional and the setting is spectacular. This grand two story colonial is surrounded by wooded privacy. It features a living room with fireplace that is convenient to the out of doors, a dining room that can accommodate an elegant dinner party, a truly big country kitchen, and a cheerful family room. All four bedrooms are actually big, with the master having its own bath.
Keep your promise to her and live near a country club for $50,900

ALMOST IN PRINCETON

If you're tired of commuting and not living somewhere special, come live a little over a mile away from Princeton University in the Penns Neck area.
This three bedroom brick and cedar shake ranch with fireplace in the living room and your own master bedroom suite will make a lot of sense when you see it.
There's plenty of closet space and an eat-in kitchen that's big enough to use as a family room for the younger children. Go to the football games and dine out or window shop in historic Princeton. Asking $46,500

"It is possible to picture the activities of the Old Farm over a long . . . period . . . It was a place frequented by a long list of travellers, some of whom must have been important figures in early American life. It was the solemn meeting place of the Court and the scene of many a heated argument . . . It was also a place of good cheer . . . In the early days, as now, the Old Farm was a landmark to every veteran traveller." From The History of the Old Farm—Tavern Days.

From its beginning as part of a tract owned by Governor Daniel Coxe from 1687 to 1690, through its days as the "plantation" of the Phillips family (1694-1832), and a "licensed house of public entertainment" (one of the first on Ye Kings Highway), to the handsome GlenVauNan of the present—the Old Farm stands as a highlight of history and a home of beauty and warmth. Superb front door, wide center hall with original Colonial arch, hand-hewn cherry doors and balustrade, one walk-in fireplace and lovely mantels on the other four; 12 foot ceilings, original window glass; random floorboards; exposed beams—these are among the eye-filling details of the 13 room stone house, which has 7 bedrooms and 4½ baths. Six acres of lawn, fields, fenced pasture (complete with sheep!) and beautiful trees (including a towering willow oak and a rare dwarf chestnut) are highlighted by a gorgeous old huge-beamed barn. A lovely setting for the meticulously restored, lovingly tended Old Farm of today! Offered at $245,000.

WHAT EVERY ONE ASKS FOR . . . OR DEMANDS ABOUT . . . a stone column dating back to the early 1700's not far from the Delaware River . . . GOAT HILL ROAD, WEST ANSWELL TOWNSHIP, to be exact! In the early days the location provided a high point from which to watch the troops engage . . . more importantly today, it's a great township to be in because the Taxes are still with in reason! A charming two-story with all modern improvements resting snugly on 38 protective acres of woods and pasture. Far back from the road. Four bedrooms, three baths, two parlors, library, kitchen, wide window wells, walk-in fireplaces, random pine floors and much more. Slate roofed barn with meadow apartment almost completely the pastoral picture. Make an appointment to walk this choice property with us today or over the weekend. You'll enjoy it!
(*Just a wee bit over two thousand dollars for the package!)

WINFIELD DRIVE, PRINCETON TOWNSHIP . . . a brick and frame custom colonial resting comfortably on three acres beyond a circular drive enhanced by a carpet-like lawn and high shrubs and plantings. Slate floored entry, inviting living room; dining room with chair rail, combination family room-kitchen with brick fireplace, pine paneled right down to the many closets rounded on the sliding glass doors to the deck overlooking the double-hundred garden, powder room, large paneled recreation room or future library with bay window, utility room AND AN ADDED PLUS on the first floor — master bedroom suite with fireplace, large bath and dressing area. Two finished bedrooms and full bath upstairs with an extra bedroom and bath roughed in and ready for the finishing touches. Centrally air conditioned and many other custom features. $125,000

AT THE CORNER OF ROSEDALE AND FAIRWAY . . . rests with dignity in a white brick and chate colonial with a wrought iron balcony to remind one of the gracious days of yore! Built 14 years ago (when plaster walls were just becoming a luxury), the interior reflects the good quality not to be found in other homes today. Space is evident everywhere but especially in the 17'x29' front-to-back living room with large windows at each end and a gas-burning log fireplace. Comfortable dining room, paneled study, screened porch, efficient kitchen with dining area, utility room, and powder room amply round off the first floor. Upstairs features four corner bedrooms, one a master with dressing area and bath, a hall, and more . . . there's a separate staircase leading to an entire suite of bedroom and bath. The basement has lots of possibilities, including a dark room. All centrally air-conditioned, just a few years ago. Two acres in all with a fenced enclosed almost new Syrian swimming pool. Lots of trees and privacy. $137,500

ARCHITECTS, DO IT-YOURSELFERS . . . NOTE! Take an old warehouse in Hopewell Borough . . . within walking distance of the depot . . .
with 6500 sq. ft. of space on two floors, two half baths, a shed and street!
Maybe you can be the one to convert it into a single family dwelling?
What else is around for $22,500?

SPECIAL HOUSE RENTAL: Decapath contemporary . . . four bedrooms, 3 baths, living room, dining room, fully equipped kitchen, family room, screened porch. Available, Nov. 1-March 31, 73 . . . with possible renov. $450/mo.

RENTAL: Bottom half of a duplex on Harrison Street. Living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath. Available immediately.
Tenant pays all utilities and maintains lawn. $325/mo.

HOUGHTON REAL ESTATE

SOMETHING OLDER, SOMETHING NEW,
ALL IN THE BOROUGH

Four bedrooms, 1 1/2 bath Cape Cod situated on a simply beautiful lot studded with huge pine trees and excellent mature landscaping. Living room has fireplace, separate dining room overlooking the garden. Huge dry basement with outstanding entrance. This house has been extremely well cared for by its one owner and is close to shops and schools. Call us for further details—but hurry, it is quite a rare offering in this price range.

So much in demand today is the "in town" townhouse. This new one (almost ready for finishing touches) has the added attraction of privacy and trees. Living and dining rooms, great kitchen and powder room down. Three good sized bedrooms and bath on the second floor. Full basement. Quite unique and a great location.

Desirable three bedroom one floor house on lovely treed lot in the township — family room on the first floor and another finished room with fireplace on the lower level opening onto the back yard.

Low Seventies

Large Colonial featuring six bedrooms and 4 baths. Can you ask for anything more? Excellent neighborhood, large lot with woods behind.
